WINNINGS ON RHODE ISLAND REDS

At Appalachian Exposition, Knoxville, Tenn.—1, 3 cocks; 1 cockerel; 3, 5 hens; 3, 4 pullets; Shape Special on male; $50.00 Silver Cup offered by Rhode Island Red Club for best Red cock, hen, cockerel, pullet and pen; $25.00 in gold for third best display. At Georgia State Fair, Macon—1, 2, 3, 4 cocks; 1, 2, 4 hens; 2 cockerel; 2, 3, 4, 5 pullets; 3, 4, 5 pens; Sweepstakes for best cock in show; Sweepstakes for best hen in the show; Cash Special for best display of Reds, winning ten more display points than all other exhibitors combined. At Augusta, Ga.—1, 3 cocks; 1, 2, 4 hens; 1 cockerel; 2, 4 pullets; 4 pen; Silver Cup for best cock; Silver Cup for best cockerel; Silver Cup for best display; $10 in gold for best cock in show; $10 in gold for best cockerel in show, with many other special cash prizes and ribbons. This winning made in competition with several big Eastern breeders. At Tupelo, Miss.—1 cock; 1 cockerel; 2 hen; 2 pen; Silver Cup and A. P. A. Medal for best Red cockerel; Gold Leg Band for best cock in the show; thus winning at three consecutive shows Sweepstakes for best cock in the show under three different judges in two states, and at this same time I had a string of Reds at Little Rock, Ark., and note winnings there. At Little Rock, Ark.—1, 3 cocks; 1, 3 hens; 1, 4 cockerels; 1, 2, 3 pullets (63 pullets in the class); 1, 3 pens; $5.00 for highest scoring Red male; $5.00 for highest scoring Red female; $5.00 for highest scoring pen; $5.00 for twelve highest scoring parti-colored birds in show; $5.00 for ten highest scoring birds in show. all varieties competing; shape special on male and shape and color special on female, with many other specials, silver cups, etc.

A GRAND TOTAL OF FOURTEEN FIRSTS AT FIVE SHOWS IN FOUR STATES; THREE MORE FIRSTS THAN ALL COMPETITORS COMBINED; AND SEVEN OF THESE FIRSTS WERE WON IN ONE WEEK AT TWO DIFFERENT SHOWS AT THE SAME TIME.

WINNINGS ON WHITE ORPINGTONS

Space forbids me giving all my winnings in White Orpingtons, but will give you below the winnings at the first two shows made this season: At Appalachian Exposition, Knoxville, Tenn.—1, 3, 4 cocks; 2, 3, 4, 5 hens; 1, 3 cockerels; 2, 3, 4, 5 pullets; 1, 3, 4, 5 pens; $50.00 in gold for second largest display; $5.00 for second best pen from Georgia. At Georgia State Fair, Macon—1, 4, 5 cocks; 1, 3 cockerels; 1, 3 pullets; 2, 3 hens; 2, 3 pens; Sweepstakes for best cockerel in the show; Sweepstakes for second best cock in show (winning best cock on Reds); Sweepstakes for second best pullet in show; Silver Cup for best male in show, all varieties, with many other specials.

A GRAND TOTAL OF SIX FIRSTS AT TWO OF THE SOUTH'S BEST SHOWS, TWO MORE THAN THAT OF ALL COMPETITORS.

Are these grand winnings at the South's best shows not conclusive evidence that I own the best and champion flock of S. C. RHODE ISLAND REDS and WHITE ORPINGTONS in the South? And my birds never fail to win in competition with the Eastern or Northern breeders, as some of these winnings were made in competition with some of the big breeders of the East. My pens are all now mated and can furnish eggs promptly at $3.00, $5.00, $10.00 and $15.00 per setting of 15 eggs. I have a large number of cocks, hens, cockerels and pullets for sale in both varieties at $2.50, $5.00, $10.00, $15.00 and $25.00 each, and your money will be refunded if any bird you buy is not more than satisfactory. At this writing, January 1st, I have 1,000 eggs in incubators, and will hatch 5,000 chicks by March 15th, and will at an early date begin to book orders for exhibition birds for the early shows next season, and will sell only one customer for each show. If you want to be among the winners you should buy eggs now or book your order for exhibition stock for later delivery.

Send for Mating List, giving full list of winnings and descriptions of mating. Address

WHITE INDIAN RUNNER DUCKS

Of all poultry, as money makers, there is none will equal the WHITE RUNNER DUCK. These birds are the greatest egg producers in the world today. They lay an absolutely pure white egg, and seldom miss a day; and will gain popular favor by leaps and bounds. Our stock is the best that could be bought. Can spare a few breeders at $20.00 a pair. Eggs, $5.00 per 12, straight.

CRYSTAL WHITE ORPINGTONS

Our WHITE ORPINGTONS are from Kellerstrass direct. They are correct in shape, grand size, and pure white plumage, and win their share of the prizes wherever shown. We can spare a few cocks, cockerels, hens and pullets at a moderate price, considering their quality. They are exhibition birds of the highest grade, and fit to show in any competition, no matter how big the show. We have mated up five pens of these grand birds, and can sell you eggs that will hatch prize-winners and best of breeders. Eggs, $3.00 per 15, $5.50 per 30.

MAMMOTH BRONZE TURKEYS

The king of the poultry world. We have the largest flock we ever owned. They are of immense size, big boned, and beautifully bronzed. Last season we sold winners for several of the large Southern shows, and can furnish you winners for your show under a strong guarantee. If you want the best, we have them. Eggs, $4.00 per 9, and $8.00 per 20.

CAN FURNISH YOU LARGE HEALTHY BABY CHICKS AND DUCKLINGS AT TWICE THE PRICE OF EGGS. WE ALWAYS GUARANTEE SATISFACTION, AND A GOOD HATCH.

My Incubator Is Wonderful! Just Takes One Gallon of Oil to a Hatch

AND there are a hundred other reasons why it is entirely different and remarkably better in principle—miles ahead of every one of the old style machines on the market. First—because I put the lamp on my X-Ray Incubator underneath, square in the center, where it belongs—and not on the side. Thus there's no cold side—but there is an even, regular temperature of heat all over the egg-chamber all the time—such a perfect hatching temperature that I can guarantee you bigger and better hatches every time! In placing my lamp underneath I gain a mighty big point. I make it possible to use a big oil tank—one that holds from 4 to 8 quarts of oil—but just 4 quarts are needed for a hatch—that's another thing I can guarantee. My perfected automatic trip—an exclusive X-Ray feature—accounts for this great saving of oil! It cuts down the flame at the burner when the egg-chamber gets too hot—so there's no excess heat escaping all the time and eating up your fuel—causing smoke and smell as with other machines—no waste of money in my—

X-RAY INCUBATOR

"Built Different from all Others"

the best paying one on the market. The distinctively different lid of my machine is unquestionably just as important a feature as my perfect heating system. This lid has two double-glass panels and you simply raise it to ventilate or turn the eggs. Eggs are never taken out of my X-Ray Incubator—remember that! You see the thermometer any minute at a glance without raising the lid—and letting cold air in—look right through the glass.

Requires Only One Filling of the Lamp

Instead of wasting heat—it controls it. The X-Ray uses only one gallon of oil—others must have 3 to 5 gallons and they have to fill their lamps every single day. To use my X-Ray Incubator means less handling of eggs, far less oil expense, less heat generated, absolutely no waste whatever of heat or oil. No filling of lamp during the hatch. No fumes—no danger of "cooking" eggs—always an even temperature in the egg-chamber. Eggs need not be removed during entire hatch. Anyone can get the biggest results with the X-Ray Incubator—it is so simple and easy to understand. It is the most beautiful incubator made. It's the only large size incubator that can be carried from one room to another—through ordinary sized doors.

The Only Improved Incubators and Brooders—Get Free Book!

If you are going to get an incubator or brooder, or both, why not get the ones that are miles ahead of all the rest—all those old-fashioned, lamp on-the-side machines that are so dirty and unsanitary? Why not get the one that's built on the right principle—the one that thousands of tests have proved to be the best and most profitable one? You ought to get all the facts about these wonderful machines of mine. You ought to get my Big Free Book No. 25 on X-Ray Incubators and Brooders and learn about all the better features of these machines. Please write for it today—right now while you are thinking about it. I'll send you the book by return mail. Address me personally.

Sincerely yours: J. H. KATE, President

X-Ray Incubator Co.,

Wayne, Neb.

Things you don't have to do with the X-RAY

You don't need but one gallon of oil to the hatch.

You don't have to fill the lamp but once—right at the start.

You don't have to open the machine to see the thermometer.

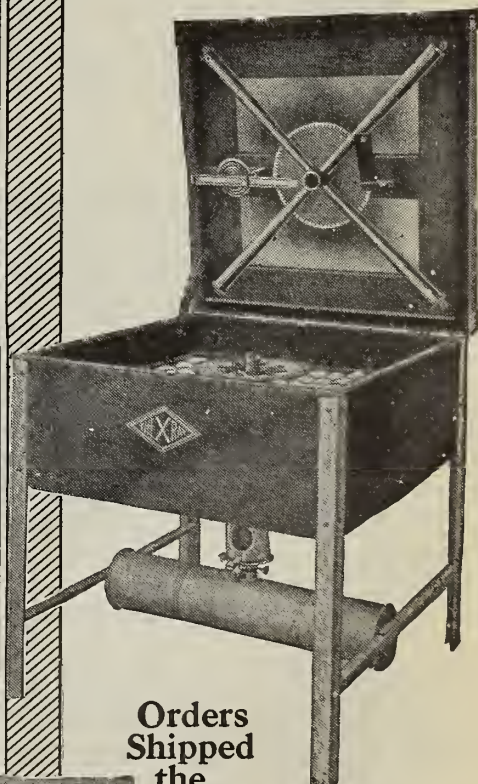

You don't have to worry about the heat regulator—the X-Ray regulator is automatic—works itself.

You don't have to wait 8 hours to get egg-chamber to hatching temperature. It takes just 15 minutes to heat the wonderful X-Ray Incubator.

You don't have to put it in the cellar on account of fumes and dirt. The X-Ray is so clean and neat—so beautifully finished in Rosewood and Enameled Steel—you may put it in your parlor if you wish.

You don't have to take my word about the better, more economical and profitable features of the X-Ray—I'll PROVE everything I say. Is that fair?

Sincerely yours,
J. H. KATE, President

OWEN FARMS

"We Congratulate You, Mr. Owen"

This with a hearty handshake was the greeting of every well-known breeder as I met him at Madison Square December Show. "Why do you congratulate me?" I asked of one great breeder. His reply was, "Because you have demonstrated here in this New York Show that it is possible for a breeder to take several varieties of poultry and make a success of each and every one. For years it has always been contended that this could not be done. It can never be seriously questioned after your winning at Madison Square Garden this time."

What Did We Really Do?

We entered a string of TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY-THREE birds in ten breeds.

WE WON, in the severest competition, TWENTY-SEVEN BLUE RIBBONS (FIRST PRIZE), TWELVE SECONDS, ELEVEN THIRDS, NINE FOURTHS, TEN FIFTHS and FIVE SIXTHS (New York this year giving six ribbons). In all SEVENTY-FOUR RIBBONS.

Buff Orpingtons

In this variety we won ALL FIVE FIRSTS, including, of course, First Cock, First Hen, First Cockerel, First Pullet and First Pen, and also Third Cock, Fourth Hen and Sixth Cockerel. Such a win needs no further comment.

White Orpingtons

This was the variety in which the most wonderful and terrific competition ever put up anywhere in the world was exactly to be noticed.

WE WON three of the five firsts, and on only two entries in the pen class, which was certainly one of the strongest classes of pens in the whole show, we won First and Second. Our First Cockerel was really a marvel and we had no hesitation in refusing an offer of One Thousand Dollars for this single bird. We also won First Hen, which by the way was the same hen which won First two years ago. In addition we won Third and Fifth Cock, Sixth Hen and Third Pullet. In points won we far exceeded our nearest competitor, winning about three times as much as any one else.

Black Orpingtons

In BLACK ORPINGTONS we made a grand winning in cockerel, for everyone considered that our First Cockerel was one of the best ever shown in this variety. He had magnificent type, an excellent head and very fine color. We are positive that this cockerel will be the sire of very many winners in Black Orpingtons this next year. We also won Fifth Hen and Fifth Pen. We shall give unusual attention this year to the mating of our Black Orpingtons and the results from our eggs for hatching will be more than gratifying to our customers.

White Plymouth Rocks

It is a long and full story to tell you about our winning in WHITE ROCKS. We won four Firsts—First Cock, First Cockerel, First Pullet and First Pen. We won the Seconds in all five classes; and on Pens we won every place but Fourth, making our winning pens First, Second, Third, Fifth and Sixth. This was positively the greatest winning in White Rocks ever made at Madison Square Garden Show, and it was not because of lack of competition, for it was one of the best classes in this grand variety that was ever penned there.

Barred Plymouth Rocks

As usual, the competition in BARRED ROCKS was extremely fierce and it happened, as it so often does, that no one breeder won more than one First. We were very pleased to win First Pullet, which was also awarded the Shape special, repeating our winning of First Pullet two years ago; and also the pullet this year was awarded the championship for best female.

White Wyandottes

We have said in our advertising several times this last year that this was to be a White Wyandotte year at Owen Farms, and if you could see our orders; if you could know what these birds that we have sold all over the country have done; how constantly they have been winning for our friends; if you could visit our farm and look over our White Wyandottes individually and as a flock, you would see that the prediction we made has come true.

We won three Firsts—First Cock, First Cockerel and First Pen. We also won Third and Fourth Cock; Second and Third and Fifth Hen; Second Cockerel; Second and Third Pullet; and Second and Third Pen. This last winning of First, Second and Third Pen in the hottest competition, with only three pens entered, demonstrated what Owen Farms' flock is as a whole. We have the type, the color and the head points, and above all that, the wonderful thing called station, that gives our White Wyandottes when prepared and fitted for the show an easy chance at the Blue Ribbons.

Rhode Island Reds

WE ARE MORE PROUD OF OUR WONDERFUL WINNING IN RHODE ISLAND REDS THAN OF ANYTHING WE HAVE EVER DONE AT OWEN FARMS. Please remember this was our first showing of Reds and everybody was there and everybody was making predictions, and perhaps few, if any, expected that Owen Farms would make such a wonderful winning in this extremely hot and grand class of birds. Think of it! We won five out of the ten Firsts in Single and Rose Comb Reds; as many as all others put together. Our First Single Comb Red Cockerel was in a class of 43 cockerels, all grand birds, and yet he easily took the Blue Ribbon. Our hen which was First was a marvel and our Pen was conceded very easily to be the best in the show, both in Single Combs and in Rose Combs. Our First Hen won the Shape Special, and in addition, we won Fifth and Sixth Cock in Single Combs. Our Rose Comb First Cock was decided to be the champion male in Reds and was admired by everyone who saw him.

What This winning at New York Means to You

It must mean, if it means anything at all, that if you are looking for either birds or eggs for hatching from the best yards to be found in America that you may depend upon it that Owen Farms has them. Your chances of success, I affirm to you, are just exactly equal to our own chances, for we give you eggs from every mating that we possess without reserve. We are positive that we can and will do much more for our customers this year, both in breeding stock and in eggs for hatching than we have ever done before.

Eggs for Hatching

We are extremely pleased to announce that we have this year mated birds in all of our varieties that are far in excess in quality and value of any ever heretofore mated. We have sold only one winning male bird of all of our winning male birds at New York. The balance are all heading our pens, together with many that have won previously or are the sons or grandsons of our New York winners. We have limited our pens in each case so that the number is never in excess of our ability to mate them with the very highest quality of both males and females. What we have done in this respect you will be able to learn from our mating list.

Our Mating List

This year we are publishing, and will send you upon application, a book containing approximately 144 pages. 56 of these pages are devoted exclusively to illustration, being the best bird's eye view of Owen Farms and its wonderful winning birds that we have ever offered. In addition we have included our general information which has heretofore been included in a separate book, and have described accurately and carefully each and all of the pens that we offer you. Our guarantee on eggs is explained therein. It is the same as we have employed in past seasons and we have tried to make it for your protection and as broad as possible. We certainly trust that this mating list and catalogue combined will meet your approval.

Our Egg Prices

You will find below a schedule of exactly what you can get in eggs for hatching from Owen Farms. For our convenience we would ask you to write your order for eggs, giving careful attention to the variety you require, the exact time you wish shipment, and your shipping directions, upon a separate sheet of paper. This will help us very much in the handling of your order. We say further that you may order eggs at the rate of 50 or 100 as priced below and make selection from as many varieties as you wish. Each egg will be marked with the number of the pen from which it comes and also with the name of the variety. Express charges will be prepaid on all original orders for eggs, for ten or over, to points in the United States or Canada, but not on eggs at half price, either on account of unsatisfactory hatch or on account of the lateness of the season, which half price season commences June 1st.

SURE HATCH INCUBATORS

The Sure Hatch Incubator Company is now building its famous machines in 400 and 600-egg sizes. This is done in response to a continued demand for larger machines. These new sizes have been thoroughly tested and rank right up with the other sizes of the Sure Hatch.

Their method of construction makes them far superior to any other make of equal capacity. Look at the picture of the 600-egg machine on this page and note the economy of floor space; how they are built in sections, one above the other; each is heated with its own lamp and can be run separately from the others; can set 200, 400 or 600 eggs at a time—as you may happen to be fixed for eggs; no waste of heating any more space than necessary to take the number of eggs you want to set. Any of the chambers can be set apart and re-assembled in a few minutes.

SEVEN SIZES OF SURE HATCH INCUBATORS

Running from 50 to 600-egg, enables us to fit out a beginner, or a city lot dweller, who may want only a few chicks, to the extensive breeder who hatches thousands of them. They are all built on the plans laid down by the U. S. Government and described in Bulletin No. 236. Send for our catalogue and Bulletin. Both sent free.

WM. COOK & SONS ORIGINATORS

OF ALL THE ORPINGTONS Established 1873

BOX H : : SCOTCH PLAINS, NEW JERSEY

We have plants in America and England

Remember we are not exhibiting for competition this season, in order to benefit our customers, so they may win more first prizes. We have won over thirteen thousand first prizes, winning 103 firsts at Madison Square in six showings, more than eight times as many firsts as any other Orpington breeder. A visit to our plant, where you are cordially invited, will be still more convincing that the Best Orpingtons in the world are owned by their ORIGINATORS, which is of course very natural. We are recognized Headquarters for the best Orpingtons, all varieties, in the world.

We can supply Imported Birds direct from our plant in England, on receipt of order, or homebred stock from our many winners. You can save much money and time by buying Imported birds from us, as the English birds are mated up by our Mr. P. A. Cook to suit American requirements while other birds imported, more than half of them are useless in this country. We always have several thousand stock birds for sale, and guarantee safe delivery, and satisfaction. We do not guarantee winners, because we do not consider there is any reliable way of doing this. This is proved by the dissatisfaction all over the country by people who have bought these so-called guaranteed winners. It simply sounds good and that is where it ends. Send 10c for illustrated catalogue containing history of all the Orpingtons and hints on poultry keeping. Mating list ready.

It adds prestige to your stock and money to your bank account if you can advertise "Cook Strain" Orpingtons. People will realize you have the Best and you will be eligible to compete for our $50 Cups which we are giving to "Cook Strain" Orpington advertisers. Next year we expect to give fifty or more of these. Ask the people who own them. Eggs from our winners and absolutely the finest Orpingtons in the world, at $20 a setting, three settings for $50. These would give you a fine start in the poultry business. We can supply eggs from unrelated pens, so that you can make the progeny. Why pay more? Eggs from fine stock at $10 a setting. A guarantee with all. We believe more than three quarters of the first prize winners of this country are sold by us or hatched from our best eggs. Eventually, if after the best Orpingtons, any variety, you will send to their Originators, Why not Now? and avoid loss and disappointment. Advice free.

JOHN A. MURKIN, Nashville, Tenn.

Chairman Committee on Invitation.

Secretary Tennessee Branch, A. P. A.

The King of Southern Boosters. Mr. Murkin was sent to Denver by the commercial organizations of Nashville, with instructions not to return unless he secured the 1912 Convention of the American Poultry Association for Nashville. As manager of the poultry department, Mr. Murkin has made the Tennessee State Fair Poultry Show one of the largest and best in the South. Recognizing his worth in the show room, the management of the Chicago show called him to that city to take charge of the 1912 exhibition, where he acquitted himself with such great credit that he was offered and accepted the management of next year's show. From Chicago Mr. Murkin went to Indianapolis, where he managed one of the most successful shows ever held in that city. He had every award made, and every exhibitor's check either mailed or delivered on the fifth day of the show. He has been engaged for Indianapolis next year, and is considering two other Northern shows. In addition to many other duties, Mr. Murkin finds time to edit and publish the Southern Poultry Magazine, which publication has done much to bring our own great Southland to the forefront as the greatest poultry producing country in the world.

THE INVITATION

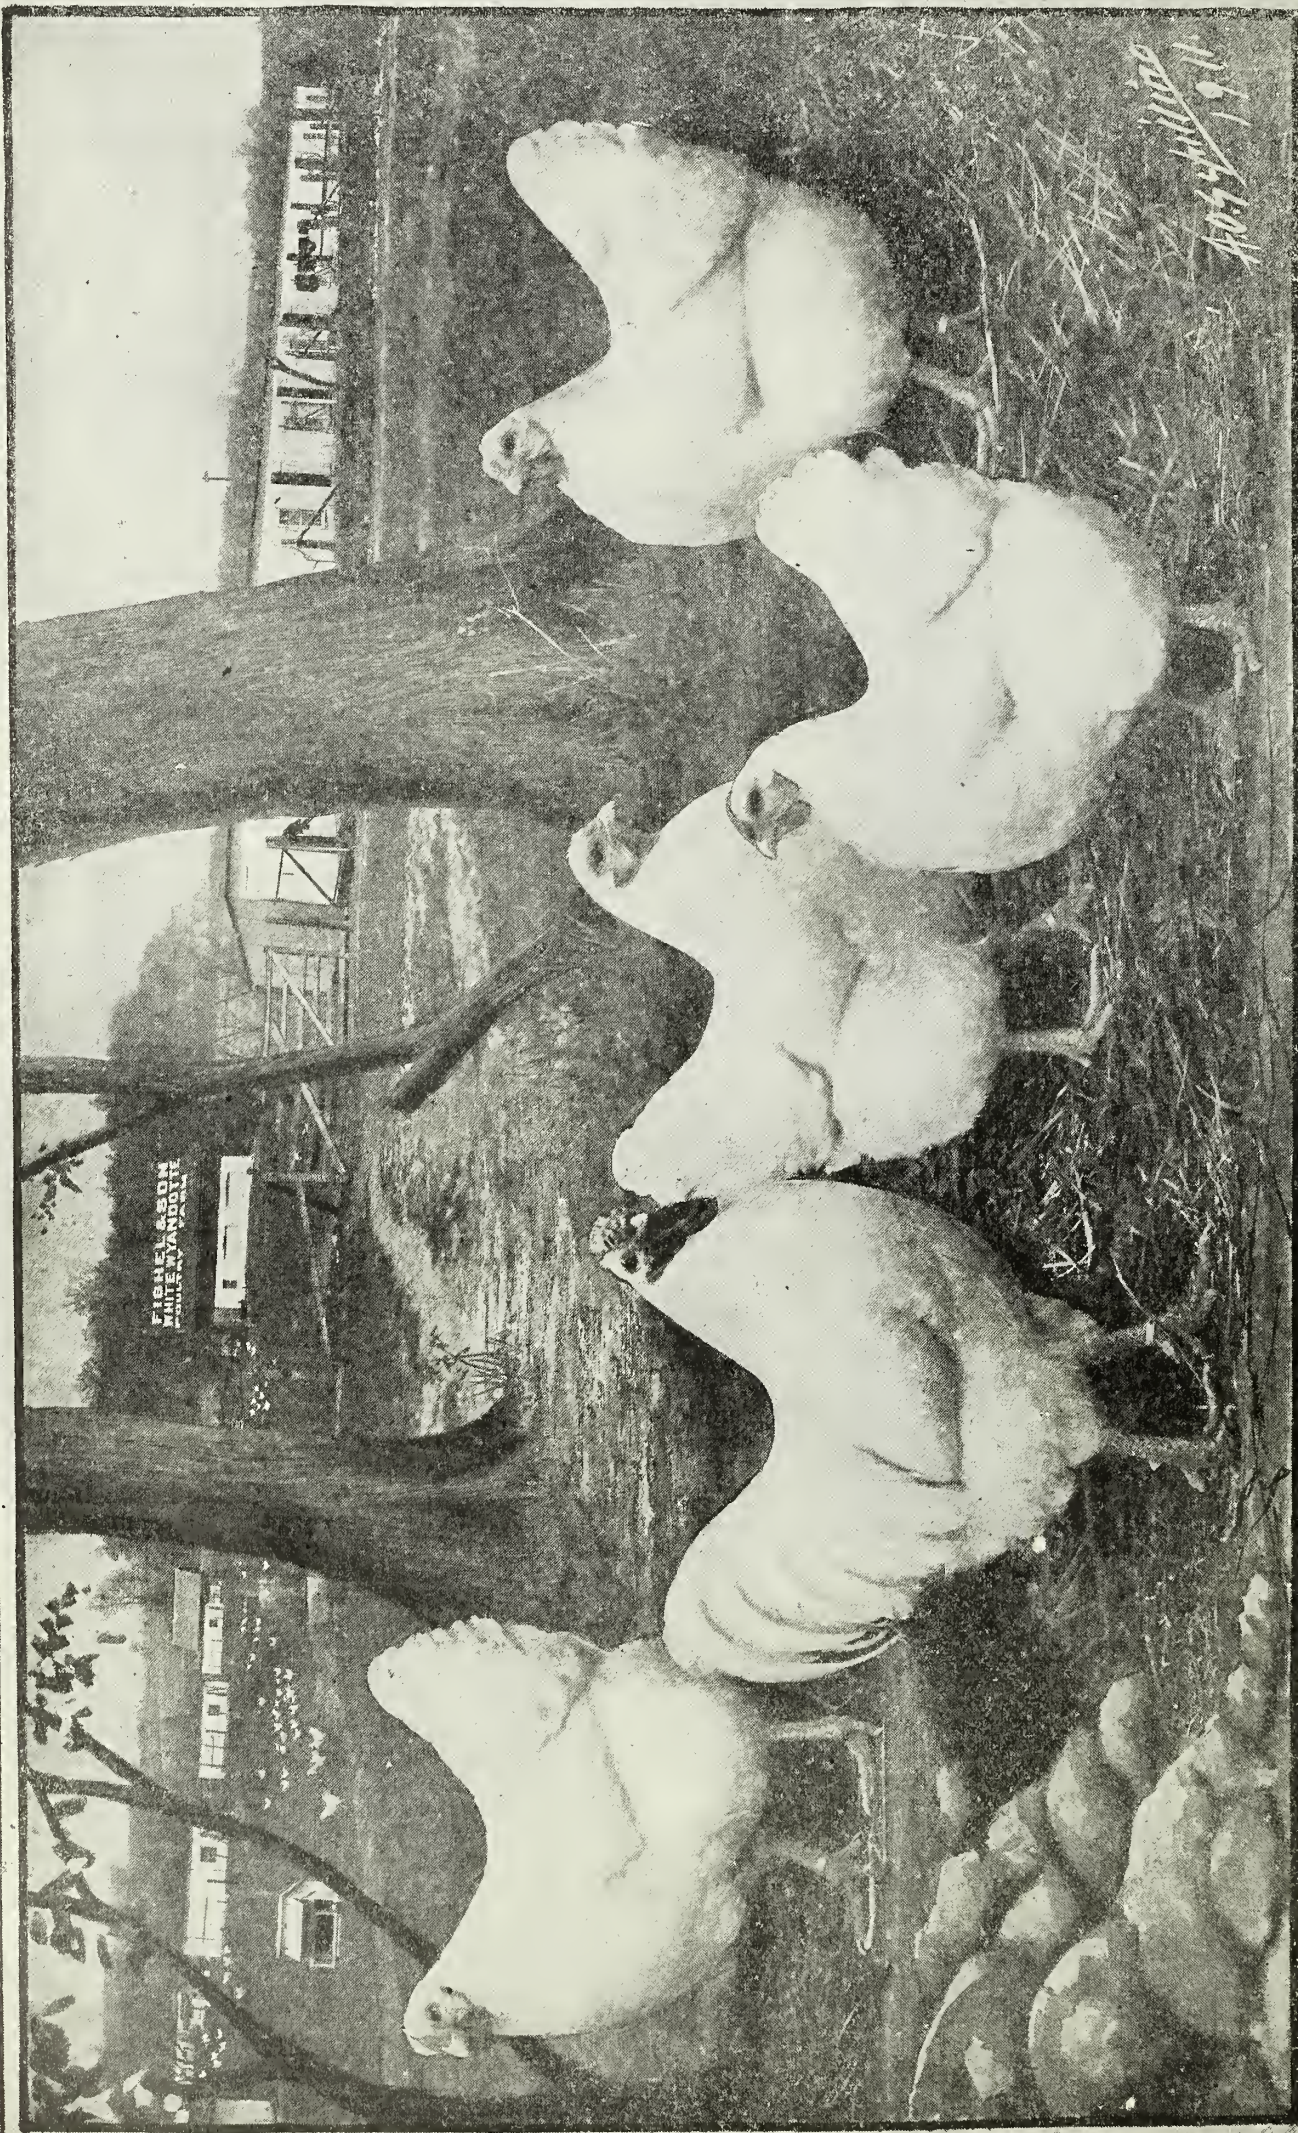

NASHVILLE wants the 1912 Convention of the American Poultry Association. A special representative was sent by the Nashville Board of Trade and the Nashville Industrial Bureau, two of the largest commercial organizations in the South, to the Denver Convention, with an invitation signed by the Governor of the State, two United States Senators, members of Congress, the Mayor of the city, the Secretary of State, the Commissioner of Agriculture, the Nashville Board of Trade, the Nashville Industrial Bureau, the Nashville Commercial Club, the Tennessee Branch of the American Poultry Association, the Tennessee State Fair Board of Trustees, the Davidson County Poultry Association, the Tennessee Poultry Association, the Southern Poultry and Egg Shippers' Association, the Tri-State Poultry Association of Memphis, besides many prominent citizens urging the American Poultry Association to hold its next annual session in the city of Nashville, Tenn., and promising that if the American Poultry Association came to the capital city of Tennessee for its 1912 convention they would be accorded the greatest reception and entertainment in the history of the organization.

The commercial organizations of Nashville and the citizens generally appreciate the importance of the poultry industry to this section of the country, and believe that if the Association will hold its next convention in Nashville, it would not only be the largest attended convention ever held by a poultry association, but will give an impetus to the poultry industry in the entire South, that cannot be attained in any other way. Nashville is nearer a larger per cent of the membership of the American Poultry Association than any other Southern city. It is within twelve to fifteen hours ride from points in all the Middle and Southern States. Nashville is a convention city with facilities to entertain any size convention. Her hotel accommodations are ample and of the very best. The climate in Nashville in August is delightful, and points of interest to be seen in and around Nashville are innumerable, among which are the Hermitage, the home of Andrew Jackson, visited annually by tourists from all over the world, and the battlefields of some of the most important engagements of the Civil War. Nashville is surrounded by more places of historic interest than almost any other city in the country. Among the many side trips that can be made from Nashville are Chattanooga, Lookout Mountain, the scenery of which equals that of Colorado; Chickamauga Park which embraces over fifteen square miles and is a park of magnificent proportions, the U. S. Government having spent nearly a million dollars and the State over one-half million in erecting monuments to commemorate the deeds of valor of their soldiers, Fort Oglethorpe, Missionary Ridge, Orchard Knob, General Grant's Headquarters, the National and the Confederate Cemeteries. The famous Mammoth Cave of Kentucky is but a short distance north of Nashville. Come to Nashville in 1912, and let us give you a genuine old-fashioned Southern welcome.

JOHN A. MURKIN,
JAMES M. FRANK,

 BRED AND OWNED BY
 J. C. FISHER & SON HOPE INDIANA.

Nashville, the Southern Convention City

NASHVILLE is famous as a convention city. It is easy of access for North, South, East and West. Its citizenship will give you a cordial Southern welcome. It is an essentially Southern city, "built up along conservative lines by the youth of its own vicinity," and its ante-bellum ideas of hospitality and cordiality still remain.

Nashville is widely known as the "Athens of the South"—it is one of the greatest educational centers in the world, and the sun never sets on lands that have not profited by an education there.

But we have told you that Nashville is a convention city. The American Poultry Association is invited to hold its annual convention in the "City of Opportunity" in August of this year. The welcome you will receive will please you. You are invited to come and walk the streets that Jackson walked upon when rising from a backwoods lawyer to the Presidency of the United States.

To entertain you when you come to Nashville, may be mentioned the following places of historic interest:

"The Hermitage," the home of President Andrew Jackson, twelve miles out on the Lebanon pike.

Polk Memorial Hall, containing relics and important documents of President James K. Polk.

State Capitol grounds. There are located the Jackson statute; the Polk tomb, where rest the bodies of President and Mrs. Polk; and the statute of Sam Davis, the Confederate scout, who died on the gallows at Pulaski, Tenn., rather than reveal the source of information regarding Union forces and works in Tennessee.

Centennial Park, in which is located a reproduction of the Parthenon of Athens; a history building containing valuable relics of the Civil War.

Andrew Jackson's law office.

National Cemetery, containing 17,000 graves.

Home of William Walker, the great filibusterer.

The Hermitage Club, Union headquarters during the Civil War after the fall of Nashville.

Monument to James Robertson, founder of Nashville, at Centennial Park.

Thirty miles from Nashville, on the railroad to Chattanooga, is the scene of the battle of Murfreesboro, where the charge of Breckinridge, second only to Pickett's at Gettysburg, was made.

Eighteen miles away, and reached by railroad and interurban cars, is the bloody field of Franklin, following which battle five Confederate Generals lay dead at the same time on the same veranda.

In the suburbs of Nashville is the field over which Thomas and Hood contended for two days in the closing years of the war between the war. This battlefield is now being marked and can be reached by auto and trolley cars.

Twenty-eight National conventions, political, fraternal, etc., have been held in Nashville. The members of the American Poultry Association are most cordially invited to share her true Southern hospitality, to traverse her boulevards, view her grandeur, to make the city of Nashville your very own for one week in August, 1912.

Why Join the American Poultry Association?

By REESE V. HICKS, President, Topeka, Kansas

THE American Poultry Association today stands for the broadest ideas in poultrydom, not only in the United States, but in the world. Unquestionably, it has the most influential membership of any poultry organization in the world. It has the largest membership of any poultry organization on the American continent.

The American Poultry Association is international. It is doing its work impartially for all parts of America, and a square deal is given every member, whether living in Canada, California, Texas, Florida or Mexico.

Just now the American Poultry Association is planning to show its broad spirit by holding a meeting in the Southern section of the United States. It is also looking towards the Western coast for a big meeting in 1915. The American Poultry Association wants a wider representation in every part of the United States and especially in that part where it is least known. A big membership in the South, for instance, and the annual meeting there next summer would be the means of advertising the possibilities of the poultry industry in the South widely to the entire world.

But there are actual practical benefits to be derived from being a member of the American Poultry Association. Membership is a guarantee of your reliability. You can print the emblem in your ad or your catalog. You can wear the button of the association and thus it is a means of introducing you to other members. Valuable silver medals are offered for best cockerels in every class and a valuable gold medal, worth $20.00 in gold, is offered at each branch show. These are for members of the association only. The winning of one of these medals will pay you for an entire life membership. Each year the American Poultry Association prints a complete list, classified according to States, of all its members. This is valuable advertising and really worth more than having your name printed in a club catalogue, as the American Poultry Association is noted for expelling members who do not conduct their business methods properly. You pay a dollar a year for having your name printed in your club catalogue. To those who join there comes additional advertising through the kindness of the poultry press. The leading poultry papers in America print each month a list of new members. One who is handy with figures has estimated that the members of the Association who joined in November, 1911, had their names appear before over a half million poultry fanciers. These are actual, practical benefits to you and will be to make your name known to the poultry world, which would not be the case if you did not contribute your part by joining.

The American Poultry Association is today beginning the work of getting out a breed standard for each breed. The Plymouth Rock Standard is well under way, and will be followed by Wyandottes, Mediterranean, Orpingtons, etc. We need your help in this good work and as a breeder of these varieties, you owe it to the association to lend your assistance. In the last year the American Poultry Association has taken up the policy of assisting breeders to get satisfactory settlements with the express companies in cases of loss and damage. Where the Branch will pay one-half of the expense, the Association will bear the other half, to prosecute flagrant cases against the express companies. A special committee to handle and adjust express matters has been appointed, and this express committee is at your service, if you have trouble with the express companies.

In the last year the American Poultry Association has taken up the policy of assisting breeders to get satisfactory settlements with the express companies in cases of loss and damage. Where the Branch will pay one-half of the expense, the American Poultry Association will bear the other half to prosecute flagrant cases against the express companies. A special committee to handle and adjust express matters has been appointed, and this committee is at your service if you have trouble with the express companies.

Perhaps you wonder what the local benefit of being a member of the American Poultry Association. One-half of your ten dollars comes back to your branch, to be spent right at home as the branch itself may see fit. Through the excellent work of the New York branch two years ago the New York legislature voted ninety thousand dollars for a poultry building at Cornell University. Appropriations to the amount of forty thousand dollars were obtained in the State of Missouri through the excellent work of the Missouri Branch. New Jersey obtained an appropriation of $30,000 through the efficient work of its branch. These branches were enabled to obtain these appropriations because they had a sum on hand to bear the actual expense of an educational campaign before the legislature.

There is no doubt but that a State Branch being a permanent organization, with a large membership, like many of the Eastern States, has proven a most efficient, dependable worker for the poultry industry of the country. I personally appeal to you. Are you willing to sell your eggs on the market for 75 cents, or for $3.00 to $15.00 per dozen. Are you willing to get a dollar a pound for your poultry, when if sold on the market it would be worth only 25 cents? Are you willing to go to the show and enjoy making exhibitions? Yet by refusing to join the American Poultry Association, you show your unwillingness to support the organization that has made these good prices possible, and made possible poultry shows all over the country.

It can truthfully be said that there would be no poultry business along Standard bred lines in America today, if it was not for the American Poultry Association and its Standard. It has been the means of developing the poultry industry to its present proportion—that is, the guiding care the association has had over the poultry business in general has been responsible for this development. Do your part toward maintaining the poultry industry through central organization, the American Poultry Association. Remember, that of the ten dollars you pay for life membership, five dollars come right back to your home branch to be spent right at home. Write S. T. Campbell, Mansfield, Ohio, or your State secretary, for application blanks.

"RENRAW," THE BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY HOME OF MR. PERCY WARNER, PRESIDENT OF THE NASHVILLE RAILWAY & LIGHT CO. Mr. Percy Warner, of Nashville, Tenn., one of Tennessee's most prominent citizens, and President of the Nashville Railway & Light Co., has requested the privilege of entertaining the American Poultry Association one afternoon during the meeting should it occur in Nashville. Mr. Warner is owner of the "Renraw Avairies," located at his beautiful country home near Nashville, where can be seen almost every known variety of the pheasant family, cranes, ornamental and waterfowls of every description. A visit to "Renraw" is one of the most beautiful as well as interesting trips to be seen anywhere in the country.

Nashville Poultrymen Plan Entertainment of Convention

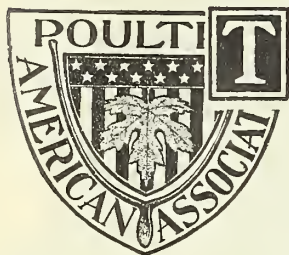

DAVIDSON County Poultry Association, of Nashville, one of the largest poultry organizations in the country, held its second annual meeting Monday, January 15th, in the rooms of the Nashville Board of Trade. After the report of the Secretary, showing the organization to be in a flourishing condition, the election of officers for the ensuing year was taken up, resulting as follows: James M. Frank, president; Dr. W. B. Lincoln, vice-president; John A. Murkin, secretary; P. F. Hager, treasurer, and the above officers with J. O. Swint, J. C. Dennie and S. H. Sanders as the executive committee. The report of the American Poultry Association Invitation Committee, consisting of John A. Murkin, James M. Frank and E. L. Doak, appointed by the Nashville Board of Trade and the Industrial Bureau, was received with much enthusiasm; and it was unanimously agreed that should the Association select Nashville as the next meeting place, they will receive the greatest entertainment in the history of the organization. The appointment of Messrs. Murkin, Frank and Doak by the commercial organizations was confirmed by the Davidson County Association. It was agreed at this meeting that an entertainment fund of $2,500.00 would be raised immediately, to go to the entertainment of the American Poultry Association. The part of this fund expected from the poultrymen of Nashville and vicinity was quickly subscribed and the committees will complete the amount within the next few days. The program for the entertainment of the A. P. A. members was carefully gone over and considered, and nothing will be left undone to make every minute of the stay in Nashville a pleasant one. Mr. John A. Murkin, Secretary of the Tennessee Branch of the American Poultry Association, made a short talk, stating that a meeting of the State Branch would be called for Nashville March 9th, and that committees from the State Branch would be appointed to co-operate with the local committees in entertaining the convention. It was also stated by Mr. Murkin that every State Branch in the South would be invited to assist the commercial organizations and the poultrymen of Nashville in the entertainment of the National organization. Special excursions will be arranged from Memphis, Knoxville, Chattanooga, Birmingham, Atlanta, and other Southern cities, in order that every one interested in poultry may have an opportunity to come to Nashville during the A. P. A. Convention. The Nashville people are determined in the event they are honored with the 1912 convention of the American Poultry Association, to assist in making it the biggest, best and most interesting convention that has ever assembled in the capitol of Tennessee. The proposed programme may be seen elsewhere in this issue.

Profitable Turkey Raising in the South

By MRS. H. P. HINTON, Dallas, Texas

THE South is an ideal place for growing turkeys. I believe that nowhere else can they be grown more successfully, as our climate is fine for getting them hatched early, which gives us an advantage over those living in the North.

To be successful in raising turkeys one should begin far in advance of the breeding season by selecting the breeders from perfectly healthy stock that is vigorous and large framed. There are many varieties, the Bronze being the largest and since market turkeys always sell by weight and it does not cost any more to raise the large birds than it does the small ones, it follows that it is more profitable to raise those that attain a good size.

I prefer to mate two-year-old hens with yearling toms. While the two-year-old hens will not lay nearly as many eggs as pullets, yet the eggs seldom fail to hatch and the poults are stronger and more easily raised. The breeding stock should not be kept fat, for then the eggs are not so good for hatching. Another reason I prefer the thoroughbred Bronze turkeys to any other is that they are good rangers and gather the greater portion of their living food from the range.

The only shelter needed is a shed fronting the south with tight north, east and west sides, the south front being covered with wire netting. The turkeys should be fed at night and should be taught to come home to roost, and then one will have little trouble when the old hens are leading their broods. Turkeys are creatures of habit and when once taught a thing they do not forget it quickly. When they are cared for gently and not allowed to get frightened they will not wander off to lay their eggs. In the South they begin to lay in February, so nests should be prepared before they begin to mate or as soon as they have mated. It is usually about ten to eighteen days after they mate before the hens lay. When the nests are fixed early, they become used to them and naturally lay in them. I make old-fashioned A-shaped coops, 30 by 36 inches at the bottom and high enough in the center so that the hens can easily stand erect. I have a number of these coops scattered about in rather secluded places and a little brush is thrown on them to make them appear more inviting. I make the nests of short cut straw and dry grass and place a china egg in the nest or one or two hen eggs. Turkeys will always cover up their eggs until nearly ready to set. The eggs should be gathered every evening and kept in an even temperature of 65 to 70 degrees and they should be turned every day until you are ready to set them.

The breeding turkeys must not be fed with market turkeys, or they will be too fat to make good breeders, the eggs will not hatch well and the poults will not be strong.

Turkeys intended for breeding purposes should be well fed, but not overfed. I have some kind of pasture for them so as to provide green stuff all the year.

Wheat, rye and winter oats are all fine for winter and rape is the best of anything for summer. I give my breeders a light feed in the morning and a full feed at night, using a variety of grains—wheat, oats and corn being the principal ones. Hoppers of oyster shell, grit and charcoal are kept before them all the time during the laying season. In one hopper I keep a dry mash made as follows: 100 pounds of bran, 50 pounds of rice meal or cornmeal, 25 pounds cotton seed meal and 25 pounds alfalfa meal. This I have found to be a good laying ration and they will eat quite a lot of it, but will never overeat when it is before them all the time.

One tom is sufficient for ten hens. If more than one is kept, they will fight and the eggs will not hatch well. If one desires to keep a larger flock, it is best to divide the hens and keep them in separate flocks or alternate the toms, although I am not impressed very much with the latter idea, for sometimes a hen takes a fancy to a certain tom and will not mate with any other, consequently her eggs will be infertile.

One mating will fertilize a whole clutch of eggs; in fact they only mate once for every clutch of eggs. Each turkey hen lays from 18 to 25 eggs, depending on her age and condition. I always save the eggs from the first clutch and set them in incubators. In a flock of hens there will be a difference of several days in the time they begin laying, so the last one to begin to lay will be ready to set at the time the incubator is ready to hatch, and I always give these broody hens a few of these incubator eggs to hatch. When the incubator has finished hatching and the poults are thoroughly dry and spry, I divide them among the turkey hens, giving 15 to 20 to each one. Do this in the evening so the hens will be quiet and the poults will get used to being with them. Arrange the nests so the poults can not get out.

E. L. DOAK, Nashville, Tenn.

President Tennessee Poultry Association; Member Nashville 1912 Invitation Committee; Chairman Reception Committee.

On behalf of the Tennessee Poultry Association, I extend to you a most cordial invitation to hold your 1912 convention in the city of Nashville, the most beautiful city in the South. The Tennessee Poultry Association is a bunch of game cocks who are satisfied in their own minds that their "walk" is the best place on earth, and they are so unselfish that they desire the rest of the "flocks" to strut around and see what a good thing they really have. Come! We will let you scratch in our barnyard; filled to the top of the heap with every poultry delight. Nashville is truly a poultry center. We have more live poultry breeders and more pretty women in the poultry business here than any other place on earth. Again I bid you welcome to Nashville in 1912. —E. L. Doak, President Tennessee Poultry Association.

JAMES M. FRANK.

President Davidson Co. Poultry Association
Member Nashville 1912 Invitation Committee and Chairman Finance Committee.

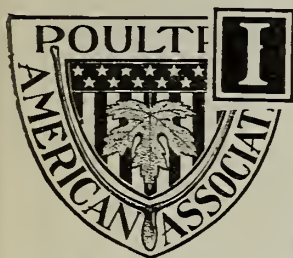

The members of the Davidson County Poultry Association of Nashville very enthusiastically voted to invite the American Poultry Association to hold their 1912 convention in the city of Nashville. We will do all in our power to "boost" the American Poultry Association, and make your visit to the city of Nashville one that will be long remembered.—James M. Frank, President Davidson County Poultry Association.

This flock of Blue Ribbon winners were bred and now owned by Clayton I. Ballard, White Pine, Tenn., one of the South's most prominent Indian Runner Duck specialists, and one of the oldest Indian Runner Duck breeders in the United States. Mr. Ballard won all firsts on Indian Runner Ducks at the great Appalachian Exposition, 1910 and 1911. Also won first, second and third on Indian Runner Duck eggs. First dozen eggs weight two pounds and five ounces. Certified pen average, 225 eggs each per duck.

Selecting, Mating, and Care of the Breeders

By MRS. H. P. HINTON, Route 6, Dallas, Texas

IT IS now time all breeding yards should be mated, if not already done, and a great deal more depends on the way in which this is done than some think. It is well to always keep in mind that the male is one-half the flock, thus he should be the very best of his breed that can be procured; study his defects and try to select females that are strong in the points that he is weakest in, and vice versa; never mate a female to a male when both have the same defects, as the progeny will all be likely to have the defect intensified.

Now is the time to lay our plans for the coming season and much of the success depends on how well they are laid and followed out. If success is to be ours great care, good judgment and common sense must be used, the smallest thing must not be overlooked. It is usually the small leaks that eat up the profits.

After the breeders are all carefully selected, housed and yarded, the next question that arises is how and what to feed for best results. If our own methods brought us success in the past, it would be worse than folly to change to untried methods, unless one sees a way of doing the work with less labor and sometimes one can make a considerable saving by adopting a new method. I would advise any one to go slow in making changes unless present methods have been a failure.

The dry mash method saves labor, but the fowls tire of dry mash and will not eat enough of it to do any good unless they are starved to it, which one does not care to do.

I have adopted a plan of feeding my breeders that is very satisfactory for producing plenty of fertile eggs. I feed dry mash composed of five measures of wheat bran, five measures of alfalfa meal, one measure of cotton seed meal and one measure of blood meal, and two measures of either shorts or corn meal. I feed this in boxes deep enough so they can't scratch it out, and put in enough to last them about three days. When the mash begins to get low in the box I pour in a little water, which wets it slightly. This makes a change for the fowls and they seem to relish it very much. Never wet it when there is very much of the mash in the box, or it might sour if the fowls did not eat it up clean. I keep this mash before them all the time and feed a mixture of grain in deep litter with sprouted oats or other green food at noon. Keep plenty of oyster shell, grit and charcoal before them all the time; cracked bone is also relished by them; plenty of pure clean water should be provided at all times. Fowls drink much more water when fed on dry mash, and therefore should always have plenty within reach.

Houses must be kept sanitary by cleaning and disinfecting often with some good disinfectant; whitewash buildings both inside and out two or three times a year. Last but not least, dust the fowls for lice, as a lousy hen does very little laying. I have never found anything that would do the work as thoroughly as hand dusting, but this would be a rather tiresome job when one has large numbers of fowls, so the next best thing I have found is to prepare a good dusting place for them and add some sulphur and a little tobacco dust and a little ashes. Mix well and moisten slightly. A little coal oil can be added, also a small quantity of carbolic acid.

Incubation and Incubators--How to Operate

By RICHARD H. WOOD, M. D., U. S. Department of Agriculture

THE agricultural papers and poultry journals are full of information upon the management of incubators, and many books have been published to furnish instruction upon this subject; but a great many farmers do not see these journals or books. Once let it be known that the operation of an incubator is easy and simple, and once the almost superstitious dread that some people have of taking up something new is overcome, there will be little trouble in teaching the uses and management of the common hatching machine.

At the outset the writer insists that the successful operation of an incubator depends upon accuracy and exactness. Not only should the work be done properly, but it must be done "on time." The woman who fills her lamps at a certain hour of the day, and the man who winds his watch or clock at the same hour every evening, need not fear the task of running an incubator. But unless one is willing to study, to read, and to practice, and is willing to attend to the few wants of his machine at the right time, making a specialty of promptness and punctuality, it will be unreasonable to look for chickens from the best incubator under his management.

The person who runs an incubator must be clean and careful; he must be at home with his machine at the same hour every morning and the same hour every evening; he must learn the peculiarities of his incubator and carefully follow instructions. For such a person the operation of the ordinary hatching machine will be simple and easy enough. With each shipment the manufacturer sends out a book or card of directions. Read this carefully before attempting to set up the machine. Put the parts together in exact accordance with these directions. Count the parts and inspect them carefully; then put them together; see that the machine stands level; that the doors open and shut easily; that the regulator is in working order.

About this time comes the question, Where shall we set this machine? This matter of location is very important. It has much to do with success in hatching. First, it must have some permanency. It must be placed where it will not be disturbed, away from jars and vibrations, out of drafts or where the breeze can not strike it and where the opening and closing of doors and windows will not affect it. The room occupied must be large enough and have a level floor. One needs room to work about an incubator. It should have a clear space around it, especially in front, and at the lamp end of the machine there should be plenty of room. The apartment should not be damp or dark. A clean, dry, light cellar is excellent for this purpose. Any dry, clean room will do, but, as stated before, drafts or currents of air over or around the machine are very detrimental.

Use nothing but the best grade of oil. No incubator will do good work with poor kerosene. The best will cost less in the end. It will give more heat, less smoke, and make less dirt and less work. If oil is bought by the barrel do not accept it in an old barrel. It may be short in measure or it may contain water and rubbish in the bottom of the barrel.

With the incubator in its place, all parts adjusted, the tank, if any, filled with water, and the lamp lighted and wick turned up so as to give a clear, white flame—just high enough, but not too high—we are ready to balance the machine or to establish the ratio between the thermometer, the regulator, and the lamp.

The incubator should be run with the trays empty for at least twenty-four hours before the eggs are placed in the egg chamber. This gives it a chance to get well warmed throughout, and it also gives the operator time and practice in adjusting the regulator so that it will keep the egg chamber at the proper temperature. This temperature should be exactly 100° F. for several hours before the eggs are put into the egg chamber. All this time the lamp should be kept in order and made to burn with a clear, white flame, so that it does not smoke and so that it can be turned a little either up or down without smoking. This is essential. The blaze must be good from the start and the regulator balanced to a good flame, and this must

Poultry Diseases Prevalent in the South

By J. A. THORNHILL, Hartselle, Alabama

IT CAN not be denied that the average poultryman doesn't understand the diagnosis of the many diseases his poultry are heir to; and that the diagnostics are far from his experience. We are told by those who claim to know, that poultry are practically heir to the same diseases as the human family, and that as a rule, each disease must be treated with a specific remedy. Each disease has its place for the multiplication of its disease germs in the fowl's system; but generally we find that a deranged digestive tract controls and harbors more of these than any other part of the system man, as well as the lower animals. The average practitioner enters a home in response to a call for his services, the first thing he makes inquiry about is the condition of the patient's bowels, and he will examine the tongue to determine the condition of the liver. So when disease enters a flock, first examine the excrements; naturally they should be solid. There should be more or less white (the secretion of the kidneys) attached. There should be no blood or green streaks or mucus, and the fowls should experience no trouble, such as straining, etc. The tongue should be clean, very red and free of slime or mucus. If tongue is pale, especially toward the end, a liver tonic should be given. Slime on the tongue and walls of mouth denotes a torpid liver. In nearly all diseases of poultry, if a mild liver tonic is first administered, the specific remedy for the particular disease will show results quicker and the flock will not show the after effects of the disease near so much. I have several formulas for liver tonics, most of which contain senna and manna. Senna, six parts; manna, twelve parts; dose, teaspoonful to twelve hens—is an ideal liver tonic.

Roup.—When we state that most all poultrymen have their share of this disease, the true facts are mentioned. It is the most dreaded of all poultry diseases, both North and South. The primary cause of roup is a neglected cold, lice, poor feeding and housing, improper care, allowing stock to stand out in cold, rainy weather, etc. Anything which lowers the physical vitality opens the gate for roup to enter the mucus tissues of a fowl's system. The first indication of roup is a cold. There appears a watery discharge from the eyes and nostrils. The upper part of the mouth (cleft) and throat soon fill with a yellow, cheesy substance of a very offensive odor. Comb turns dark, feathers on neck ruffled, a high fever and affected specimens seclude themselves and have poor appetites. Roup is a germ disease, hence a dis-seldom fatal, but retards growth and renders subject unfit for breeding purposes. It is a germ disease, the exact nature of which has never been discerned. It abounds in filth, and will not germinate where premises are kept judiciously clean. It affects the head, face, wattles and neck of fowls. The first symptoms are dry scabs on comb, which, if not checked, will cover head adjuncts. For treatment, scabs removed and carbolated salves applied, or burnt out with caustic, or sulphate magnesia (salts) given on Monday, tablespoonful to ten hens and on Tuesday two tablespoonfuls of sulphur; or to one-half gallon raw linseed oil add four ounces of carbolic acid and apply to sores three times a week, or remove scabs and apply full strength

"THE HERMITAGE," the home of Andrew Jackson, near Nashville; contains furniture and furnishings as used by "Old Hickory." Under the direction of the Ladies' Hermitage Association of Nashville, many articles which formerly belonged to this greatly beloved son of the Southland, have been recovered and returned to "The Hermitage." A trip by auto to this historic old home will be one of the instructive features offered delegates to the 1912 Convention of the A. P. A.

creolin. Either of these remedies will be found excellent.

Chicken Pox.—Some claim this and sorehead the same disease, but there is a difference. Chicken pox affects the entire body of the patient, while sorehead only affects the head adjuncts. The cause of chicken pox, I have never learned; but for a cure, the salts and sulphur formula given above for sorehead will be found good. One drop of aconite to each fowl will control the fever. For a drink, equal parts extract smart weed and pleuresy root is good for the disease until the vesicles on the body disappear.

Canker.—This disease we find where poultry is kept, whether North, South, East or West. It attacks both sick and well fowls. One bird may have it and get well without others getting it; again, it is at times a veritable epidemic. Difficulty in swallowing, fowls will act as if trying to dislodge something in the throat, white or yellow spots appear on the lining of the mouth and throat. Remove the scabs, if any, and apply burnt alum, or use some roup cure containing permanganate of potash, or apply pure murate tincture of iron or aromatic sulphuric acid. Don't wait until the disease gets the advantage of the flock.

Gapes.—There is no disease which has excited more interest than gapes. It affects chicks only. A small, minute worm lodges in the windpipe and its dislodgement is a troublesome trick. As they increase in number, they more and more obstruct breathing, and the result is "gapping." It is hard to get rid of the gape worm; the best plan is not to raise chicks on infected soil for several years. In the meantime, sprinkle water slacked lime over the quarters during every rain. There are several gape cures on the market. Some use a horse hair to dislodge the worms; but my remedy and one that will not fail, is to pour a teaspoonful of strong chamber lie down each affected throat.

infectant around the habitation of roup fowls. A germicide and a strong tonic must be used.

Sorehead.—This is the South's worst disease. It is

Why We Want the 1912 Convention

NASHVILLE wants the 1912 convention of the American Poultry Association—and we want her to have it. There are a great many reasons why we favor Nashville, a number of which are contained in the hearty invitations extended by many citizens of the State and given expression through the pages of this magazine.

We favor Nashville, first, because it is a Southern city, combining the sentimentalities of the old South, and the pulsating, throbbing, energetic life of the new. A modern Southern city whose people, pausing in the midst of the activities of marvelous developments,

"* * * find the way to heaven
By doing deeds of hospitality."

We favor Nashville because it is a convention city, famous as such, having entertained many national and international conventions in recent years, and always with great credit to the hospitality of her citizens. With modern and commodious convention halls, places of historic interest, and a people with an eye single to the comfort of the stranger within her gates, Nashville has no peer as a convention city.

We favor Nashville because we know the bunch behind the invitation. Lockey Doak says they are a lot of game cocks, and they are expecting to strut some in August. Jim Frank presses the invitation, while John Murkin beckons and smiles. Verily, a triumvirate of happy mien who may be depended upon to lead us all

"To where yon taper cheers the vale
With hospitable ray."

We favor Nashville because we believe the convention ought to come South this year. Former conventions of the American Poultry Association held elsewhere have brought large increases in membership, and so quickened interest in the sections thus honored, that the growth of the poultry industry in these sections has been marked and rapid. The South wants and needs this growth. Her people are awake to the possibilities of the industry, and no other section of the world is evincing such intense interest in poultry husbandry. Since the Denver convention, almost thirty per cent of the new members enrolled by the American Poultry Association have come from the Southern States.

We want Nashville to have the convention because she is accessible to a larger per cent of the Association's membership than any other Southern city. Nashville is the center of more than one-fourth of the population of the United States that can be reached within twelve hours ride, and it is only 23 hours from Buffalo, 23 from Kansas City, 20 from Detroit, 28 from Philadelphia, 26 from New York, and 14 from Pensacola.

We favor Nashville because climatic conditions in Tennessee make the month of August an enjoyable one. The official weather prognosticator has assured us of this, and he knows. And just here it may be well to suggest that the gentleman who spoke so eloquently of the South at the Denver convention, and all others, may bring their clothes and wear them upon all occasions without unnecessary discomfort.

We favor Nashville because the South needs the convention, and the American Poultry Association needs the South. The poultry industry will receive a marked impetus should the members of the Association yield to our persuasion and hold its next convention here. In the meantime, it is the duty of every State Branch in the South, and every member of the American Poultry Association as well, to bestir themselves, to the end that the reports made at Nashville next August may show the largest increase that has ever been reported from any section in a similar period of time.

These are some of the reasons why we want you to come to Nashville. We could give many more if space would permit. We trust we have made plain to you some of the advantages offered by the city of Nashville, and that you will vote "Nashville, 1912" when opportunity offers. The writer joins with the poultrymen of Nashville, of Tennessee, and of the entire South, in extending to the members of the American Poultry Association a most cordial invitation to meet with us in August. The commercial organizations invite you to Nashville that you may know more of its culture, its refinement and its physical beauty. State and city officials say come. Let all who would see the old-time Southern hospitality in its fullest perfection, come. We shall expect you.—E.H.D.

Those Foreign Letters From Mr. Audigier

It now seems probable that we will not be able to begin the publication of managing editor Audigier's foreign letters in our March issue, as we had anticipated. Mr. Audigier advises us that he is improving every moment of time, and enjoying it, but the collection of such data as he proposes to give the readers of The Industrious Hen is necessarily slow work.

Through a misunderstanding on the part of the writer, we were in error in our announcement of Mr. Audigier's appointment to a place in the Bureau of Animal Industry. What Mr. Audigier received from the department, in fact, all that he sought, was letters of introduction to the heads of foreign departments, to the end that his work for the poultry press of America might be facilitated and of more value to the readers of these journals.

We hope to make advance announcement of the publication of Mr. Audigier's letters in an early issue.—E.H.D.

Tennessee State Branch to Hold Meeting

A meeting of the Tennessee Branch of the American Poultry Association is hereby called to take place in Nashville, Tenn., Saturday, March 9, at 12 o'clock noon, at the Nashville Board of Trade rooms, Stahlman building. The constitution and by-laws will be adopted at this meeting and matters pertaining to the entertainment of the American Poultry Association next August in this city will be discussed.

Sends an Invitation to the Whole South

Secretary John A. Murkin of the Tennessee Branch of the American Poultry Association, and General Chairman of the American Poultry Association Entertainment Committee, is sending out invitations to the following State branches inviting them to take part in the entertainment of the national convention which has been invited to meet in Nashville next August: Kentucky, Alabama, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Virginia, West Virginia, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas and Oklahoma branches. Nashville and the State of Tennessee, assisted by the entire South, are determined to not only show the Northern, Eastern and Western breeders who will be here by the hundreds, that the South has the livest set of poultrymen in the country, but that the South is destined to become the greatest poultry field on the face of the globe.

Nashville has a number of fine Convention Halls suitable for holding any size Convention, any of which will be available for the meeting of the American Poultry Association in the event Nashville is selected as the next meeting place. The Y. M. C. A. Auditorium, the Masonic Temple Hall, the Ryman Auditorium, Watkins Institute, or the House of Representatives at the State Capitol; any of which are located near the heart of the city and near the leading hotels. The Hermitage Hotel and Tulane Hotel Assembly rooms, will each seat about three hundred people, either of which might be used for committee meetings, while the Convention is not in session.

A. P. W. believes that the next convention should be held in the South. Furthermore, we believe that Nashville is the most interesting location that has offered to entertain the association and its guests. Therefore, it is our present intention to vote for Nashville and we hope that a large majority of the membership will do likewise. —American Poultry World, Buffalo, N. Y.

Word comes from St. Louis that the "bunch" over there will favor Nashville.

For Which We're Profoundly Thankful

The Industrious Hen of Knoxville, Tenn., will make the February issue a Nashville 1912 American Poultry Association Convention number. This poultry publication has a nation wide circulation, and is recognized as one of the best poultry journals in the country. Mr. E. H. DePoy, its editor, is one of those live wires who realizes that what is good for one part of the state is good for another, and he has jumped in with both feet to boost Nashville for this convention in a manner that deserves the recognition of every citizen of the Capital City of Tennessee. More men like DePoy are needed.—Nashville Daily Banner.

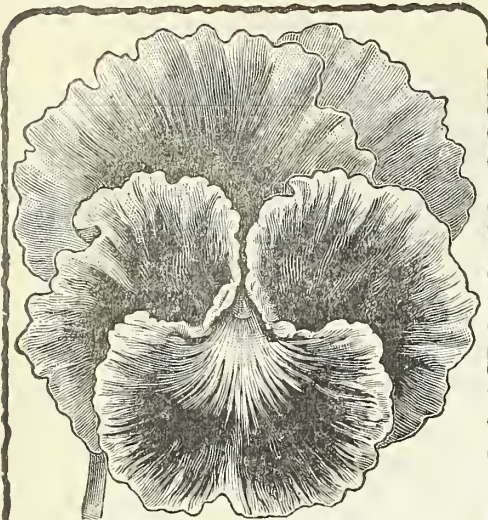

Mr. E. H. DePoy, formerly of Lebanon, Tenn., but now with The Industrious Hen of Knoxville, Tenn., has assumed the editorial chair of that publication during the absence of Mr. L. B. Audigier, who will spend about two years visiting European countries. Mr. DePoy is well known throughout the State and South as a poultry writer, and the news of his appointment to this responsible position will be received with genuine satisfaction by his many poultry friends.—Nashville (Tenn.) Daily Banner.

Nashville, according to present indications, is to be the next meeting place of the American Poultry Association. Mr. Murkin is working hard for this, and has the support of other cities in the South, and of many members of the association all over the country. He also has the financial backing of the city of Nashville, in the shape of a share of the general appropriation to advertise the city. In fact, if I remember correctly, the first item allowed out of this appropriation was for the expenses of the delegation who went to Denver to work to bring the next A. P. A. meeting to Nashville.—John H. Robinson, in November issue of Farm-Poultry, Boston.

The election of officers for the Tennessee Branch of the American Poultry Association resulted as follows: C. L. Baker, Memphis, president; E. L. Doak, Nashville, first vice-president; H. B. Lansden, Manchester, second vice-president; John A. Murkin, Nashville, secretary; E. F. Langford, Nashville, treasurer. Executive Committee —Mrs. S. C. Bridgewater, Dixon Springs; T. Reid Parrish, Nashville; R. B. Buchanan, Memphis; Thos. E. McLean, Knoxville; H. C. Hoskins, Memphis; D. M. Owens, Athens; J. T. Morgan, Memphis; H. W. Durand, Chattanooga.

At the recent meeting of the West Virginia Branch, A. P. A., a resolution was introduced by Mr. F. L. Summers, seconded by Rev. A. Moore, chairman of West Virginia Board of Agriculture, that the West Virginia branch endorse Nashville as the next meeting place of the A. P. A. The resolution was adopted.

The Southeast Wisconsin Poultry Association, J. D. Spickerman, secretary, Delavan, Wis., will vote for Nashville, 1912.

Flotsam & Jetsam

By The ASSOCIATE EDITOR

Nashville, 1912; Atlantic City, 1913; Oklahoma City, 1914; San Francisco, 1915. Don't forget, boys.

Two geese were exhibited at the Alton, Ill., poultry show, aged 23 and 19 years, respectively. Each of these remnants of antiquity, it is said, laid eggs and raised goslings, which were exhibited with them. "Don't kill the laying goose."

Here's one reason poultry raising is profitable in the South. Twenty years ago, more specifically speaking, on January 17, 1891, the following prices were paid for poultry and eggs on the Knoxville market:

"Chickens, 6 and 7 cents per pound; ducks, 15 cents each; turkeys, 6 and 7 cents per pound; geese, 25 cents each; eggs per dozen, 10 and 12 1/2 cents; butter, per pound, medium, 12 to 15 cents, choice, 20 to 25 cents." No danger from over-production yet, eh?

A post card from Managing Editor Audigier, dated December 18, states that he arrived in Naples after a pleasant voyage of fourteen days. He has been all over Pompeii and Herculaneum, and waded in ashes knee deep in reaching the summit of Vesuvius, where he could see fire and smell sulphur. He was to attend church at St. Peters, Rome, the following Sabbath. We hasten to explain, however, that this latter act was from force of habit, and that he was in no way influenced by a glimpse of the unquenchable fire or the odors arising from burning sulphur.

O. P. Barry, of Alexandria, Tenn., shipped thirteen carloads of dressed turkeys prior to Jan. 1. The last six cars shipped contained 60,000 pounds.

At the annual meeting of the Mississippi branch of the American Poultry Association, the following officers were elected: President, W. F. Kirkpatrick, of Agricultural College; first vice-president, J. W. Beeson, Meridian; second vice-president, W. C. Taylor, Jackson; secretary and treasurer, G. A. Wilson, Greenwood.

GOV. BEN W. HOOPER.

"Wherever the name of Tennessee has gone, there, too, has gone her reputation for hospitality. It is, therefore, strictly in accordance with history and tradition for me, as Governor of this State, to invite you to hold your next convention in one of our beautiful cities. Here you will find yourself on historic ground, replete with more than usual interest; in a country beautiful by nature, whose attractions have been enhanced by the hand of man. Your hosts will be keenly alive to the honor you are doing them in holding your convention in their city, and they will do everything in their power to contribute to your pleasure while you sojourn with them."

The annual movement of Christmas turkeys from Morristown, Tenn., reached an approximate total of thirty cars and brought for East Tennessee poultrymen and dealers a total of between $45,000 and $50,000. The annual "turkey train," which left Morristown several days before Christmas carried twenty-two cars of live and dressed turkeys to the Eastern market. Several single cars have been shipped since to dealers in Baltimore,

A group of Indian Runners on the farm of R. J. Latta, Yorkville, S. C.

Washington and New York, and to hotels in Jacksonville, Fla.

A peculiar snake and chicken story is told by one of Bolivar, Tennessee's, busy housekeepers who was dressing a big Christmas bird in her kitchen. Her attention was called to the motions of a pet chicken, that is allowed the freedom of the kitchen. Squirming in agony was a snake eight or ten inches in length of a dull gray color. After a few vicious pecks his snake-ship was dispatched by the chicken.

A pen of White Leghorns from England is leading in the Philadelphia American's egg-laying contest.

A hen egg that weighs one-quarter of a pound is the record-breaker in Knoxville, Tenn. J. Monroe Johnson, Deputy County Court Clerk, has a fine lot of Rhode Island Red chickens at his home in South Knoxville. He has on exhibition an egg laid by one of his hens that weighs one-quarter of a pound and measures nine and one-quarter inches by four and three-quarter inches.

If the A. P. A. boys only knew what awaits them in Nashville next August, there wouldn't be a dissenting vote.

Murfreesboro, Tenn., as a market for turkeys seems to have leaped into the first rank. A conservative estimate of the number of dressed turkeys shipped from that place during the ten days preceding Thanksgiving has been placed at 10,000. Fifteen hundred were brought to town one day in two droves, and for several days the number averaged almost a thousand a day. The total number shipped has been figured at 25,000 to 30,000, and as these turkeys bring all the way from $1.50 to $4.00 a head, it will be seen at a low estimate the turkeys of Ruth-

Commissioner of Agriculture, State of Tennessee.

"We will be very much pleased to have the American Poultry Association hold its 1911 convention in the city of Nashville, and will co-operate in every way possible to make the meeting a notable success."

From the Tennessee State Fair Board of Trustees, Hon. T. F. Peck, Chairman.

"The Tennessee State Fair Board of Trustees extend greetings to the American Poultry Association, and also extend a most cordial invitation to hold the 1912 convention in the city of Nashville. The State Fair trustees represent the three Grand Divisions—East, Middle and West Tennessee, and they know that they are but voicing the sentiment of all the people when they inform the American Poultry Association that an old-time welcome—bubbling over with all the good things that go to make up genuine Southern hospitality, and that the poets have written into verse, awaits them in the Old Volunteer State."

We are sending our Chief Cock, John A. Murkin, to you bearing expressions of fraternity, and to crow before you over Tennessee hospitality. I beg you to yield to his persuasions. Still a Drake.

Albert G. Foster, a lawyer of Madison, Ga., bought some Indian Runner Ducks, says the Saturday Evening Post. His wife and her father were out in the yard looking at them.

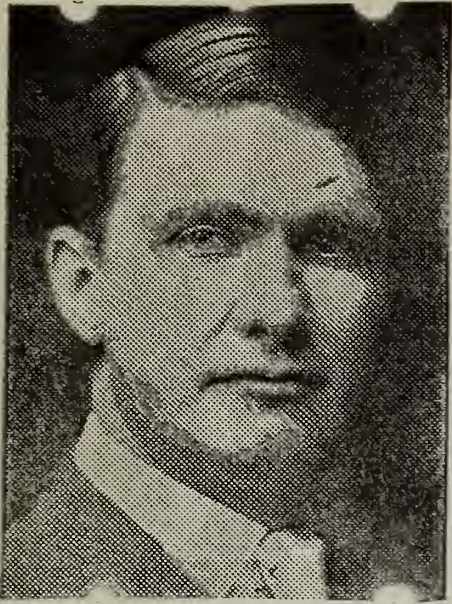

"How can you tell a drake from a duck?" asked Mrs. Foster of her father.

"The drake has a curled feather in his tail," the old gentleman replied.

"Lord-a-mercy!" said Mrs. Foster. "Suppose he should lose his feather?"

"Well," said her father, after thinking of the matter for a minute, "he would still be a drake."

In view of developments in the city chemist's office at Louisville, Ky., produce dealers may be impelled to reword their standing newspaper advertisements. For instance, instead of the present wording "fresh eggs, forty cents a dozen," there might be substituted "guaranteed boneless eggs, forty cents a dozen." City chemist Vernon Robins inspected thirty dozen ancient eggs siezed by sanitary inspector J. A. Pickering at the plant of the New York Baking Company and shipped by Swift & Company. Dr. Robins found that the eggs had been held so long in cold storage that they contained bones. Judge Boldrick, in the city

"I have been requested by Mr. John A. Murkin of the Nashville Board of Trade and the Industrial Bureau, to urge the acceptance of an invitation presented by him on behalf of those bodies for the next convention of the American Poultry Association to be held in Nashville. Nashville has recently provided facilities which render the city admirably adapted for convention purposes. It is also centrally located in the center of a territory which is increasing its interest, and is developing a great poultry industry. Nashville is the best example of the much heralded hospitality of the South, and her doors would swing wide open in a welcome to your convention."

To relieve a crop-bound bird, the following treatment has been suggested: Fill a fountain syringe with warm water, insert the end of the hose without the nozzle into the bird's throat and fill the crop with water. Then hold the bird's head down and gently press out the contents of the crop.

Three Miles of Turkeys.

The following interesting letter was received from Mr. C. W. Miller, R. 1, LaFollette, Tenn.:

"Did you ever see three miles of turkeys? A continuous stream of turkeys, pike wide, for three miles! Yes, sir, such a display could have been made here in Campbell County last week by simply closing up the ranks of the 6,000 turkeys that were driven to the shipping station at LaFollette. White turkeys, black turkeys, bronze and Narragansetts, and every conceivable cross of these breeds were in the stream. And that is not all. This week 1,200 more are being brought in; $10,000, at least, will be distributed to the farmers of this section from the sale of these turkeys. About 1,000 head of big cattle were shipped from this point in October, which brought the cattle men some $40,000—now think of the turkey crop bringing in one-fourth as much as the

Inasmuch as this honorable body has met from time to time during the last decade at the four corners of the earth, we deem it extremely fitting and surely for the good of the order, if, in 1912, its membership should decide to go "down South." There are many cities of our fair Southland that would esteem it an honor to entertain the American Poultry Association in 1912, but none that would appreciate it more and would do more toward giving the "chicken cranks" a good time than Nashville, the capital city of Tennessee. The keys of the city of 200,000 people will be turned over to our guests; the capital building will be decorated in our honor, and the "City of Opportunity" will turn out to bid us welcome. Gentlemen—Ladies—you are cordially invited to vote for the 1912 convention to be held at Nashville, Tenn.

big cattle. Last year 3,800 turkeys were shipped, so you see the turkey interest is growing. We note a great awakening among our farmers in regard to raising all kinds of poultry. Thoroughbred stock is being secured, houses and yards are being provided, and Campbell County will be in the forefront of the poultry industry."

A newspaper dispatch conveys the sad intelligence that "Major," the old rooster belonging to R. R. Carney, of Port Royal, Tenn., is dead. He was seemingly in his usual health, and rose early, but later in the day was found dead. Had he lived till next May he would have celebrated his sixteenth birthday anniversary and was perhaps the oldest rooster in Tennessee. His master was away from home at the time of his death, but other members of the family observed the occasion with due solemnity, and laid his body to rest in a neatly prepared grave in the family garden. Major was a cross between a Rhode Island Red and Brown Leghorn and in his prime was a bird of commanding appearance. He followed Mr. Carney to the front gate when he left home and often met him with signs of welcome. During severe winter weather since he has been so old, he had been given a comfortable place around the fireside. Farewell, Major. Requiescat in pace.

It's worth a trip to Nashville just to see John Murkin smile when he's real happy.

As a member of the A. P. A., Tennessee Poultry Association, East Tennessee Poultry Association, Wilson County Poultry Association, and a citizen of Tennessee, I take great pleasure in inviting the 1912 convention of the A. P. A. to meet with us in Nashville. Knowing as I do the many natural advantages we offer poultrymen, makes me more than anxious for your honored body to meet for the first time in the South.

"The birds sing nowhere quite so sweet,
And nowhere hearts so lightly beat,
For heaven and earth both seem to meet
Down in Tennessee."

But if you think our Sun too warm for you, coming as you do so recently from Denver, we can assure you of the best Moonshine on earth. Everybody come.

Yours truly,
J. C. VAUGHAN.

Duck Department

By CLAYTON I. BALLARD, White Pine, Tenn.

Moving ducks will stop them from laying for a short time.

On purchasing ducks, don't expect every duck to lay an egg every morning for 365 days in succession.

Sunshine and water are essential to ducks, but don't expect an egg every morning with this kind of a diet.

Don't try hatching Indian Runner Ducks during January or February. April and May are the best months. Cold is fatal to young ducklings.

Don't imagine you can keep two thousand ducks on one-fourth of an acre. A little figuring will show you differently.

Always buy the best if you want to get the best. The day has passed when people could purchase $5.00 birds for $1.98.

Don't make the mistake of writing to a breeder that the eggs bought of him were rotten and infertile. If they were infertile, they would not rot; and if they did rot, then they were fertile.

Don't expect eggs at $1.00 per 12 to hatch twelve first prize winners worth $50.00 each. Don't expect to purchase for $1.00 birds worth $5.00, or even $1.50. Only expect $1.00 birds.

Any kind of fowls must have all the food they can consume, of a variety of grain, together with some meat food to lay eggs in any number. You don't expect to put much fat on a hog without giving them all they can eat.

Don't expect every egg to hatch. Ananias may claim that they do; but, in fact, they don't, save on rare occasions. Don't expect 99 out of every 100 chicks hatched will mature. The fellow that claims to do this stunt has gone out of business.

NON-FADING RHODE ISLAND REDS.

For the benefit of those who are skeptical regarding the "Non-Fading Rhode Island Reds," the Buschmann-Pierce Red Farm will have on exhibition at the Fanciers' Association show, to be held in Tomlinson Hall, Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 5-9, 1912, two pens of their Non-Fading Rhode Island Reds of two, three and four years old. These birds can be handled by those interested, upon obtaining permission. That this firm does breed non-fading Reds can be attested by our Mr. Dismukes, who went over some of these birds at the Tennessee State Fair with Mr. Pierce, and that the three and four year old birds there had the same brilliant hue of the pullets on exhibition can also be attested by others.

MORE IN THE STRAIN THAN IN THE BREED

Why look further when it has been proven beyond a doubt that Ballard's Strain of Indian Runner Ducks are the greatest egg producers in the world—no fowls excepted. A certified egg record of over 225 eggs each per duck in one year. Remember to ask when breeders claim a high egg record, can they give a certified egg record. We give facts, not hot air. At the great Appalachian Exposition, 1910, we won all firsts except one. This year we won 1st, 2nd and 3rd old drake; 1st and 2nd old duck; 1st, 2nd and 4th young drake; 1st, 3rd, 4th and 5th young duck. 14 ducks entered. 94 ducks competing, including Tennessee State Fair 1st prize winners. On White Runners we won the 1st old duck, 1st young duck and 2nd old drake, only 4 entered. Two of the largest White Runner breeders competing. Some extra fine exhibition drakes for sale. Remember you can't win without Ballard's Strain. Sold the Hon. Wm. J. Bryan trio at the Exposition; pronounced by him to be the best he ever saw. Standard Bred S. C. WHITE LEGHORNS and S. C. T. REID PARRISH, Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Parrish is editor of the Columbian Wyandotte Journal, the first issue of which has just come to our exchange table. The "Journal" is ably edited, and the mechanical arrangement is excellent. Mr. Parrish is the originator of the Columbian Wyandotte, and one of the South's leading poultry judges. He has served as secretary of the Tennessee Branch, A. P. A., and is entitled to much credit for the success of the association in this section.

SOUTHERN POULTRY FARMS

The Georgia Poultry Show at Atlanta, Jan. 8 to 13, was not only one of the largest shows, but was claimed by experts to have had the highest quality birds ever brought together in a show of its size. The Minorca class was well filled and attracted much attention. Many are of the opinion that the Minorca is the coming bird of the South. They not only lay the most eggs but the largest egg of any breed. Pure white delicious eggs; the pride of the housewife. As a fancy fowl they have no superior. The Southern Poultry Farms, of LaGrange, Ga., had a string of their birds on exhibition and they swept down every first—first pen, 1st cock, 1st cockerel, 1st hen, and a silver cup for best pen in show. The Minorcas exhibited by Southern Poultry Farms was the attractive feature in their part of the building. Their large size was commented on by all. They are the originators of the world's famous Blue Grass Strain, and all their stock has been bred from record layers. The Blue Grass Strain is known in every State for quality and egg production. The Southern Poultry Farms also breed Barred, White and Buff Rocks, Black Orpingtons, White and Brown Leghorns, Reds and Indian Runner Ducks. They get out a nice catalogue, which will be sent free on request.

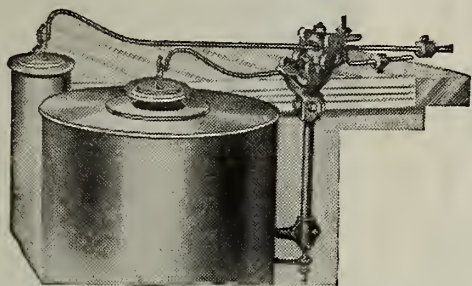

S. C. Black Minorca hen, bred and owned by Southern Poultry Farms, LaGrange, Ga. Winner of first at Georgia Poultry show, Jan. 8-13. Produced 241 eggs in her pullet year. Weighs 8¼ pounds.

Mandy Lee

Incubator of Certainty

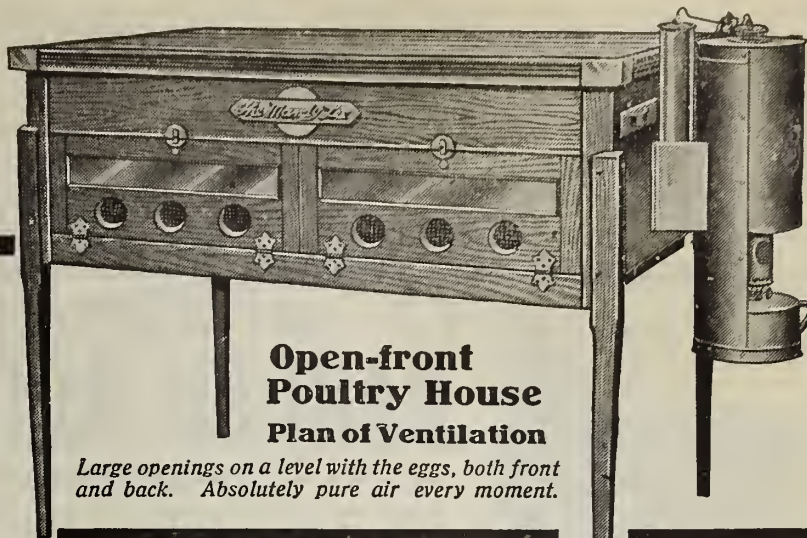

Now, for the first time, Heat, Moisture and Fresh Air are measured and exactly adapted to each other.

A certain definite relation exists between these hatching requisites. Right proportions are vital to success. A wrong proportion spoils the hatch.

The Automatic Regulator

The Mandy Lee is the only incubator that recognizes and applies this vital incubating principle. The automatic regulator, the greatest feature ever placed on any incubator, regulates, adjusts, adapts and brings about right hatching conditions and does it all automatically.

Open-front Poultry House Plan of Ventilation

Large openings on a level with the eggs, both front and back. Absolutely pure air every moment.

What Does This Mean to You?

Millions more chicks are going to be hatched from the same number of eggs. The new principle which is proving such a great success in the Mandy Lee Incubator is going to give the same certainty to all operators. It makes an end to spoiled hatches, an end to experimenting and guesswork. Chicks come out well developed and strong instead of weaklings, because they have not been starved for lack of oxygen or shriveled up because of too little moisture. The Automatic Regulator takes care of all the conditions, and does it more exactly and correctly than you could possibly do if you watched the thermometer, the moisture pan and the ventilator every minute of the hatch.

My 1912 Poultry Book Explains the great onward step in chick hatching. It is not explained in any other book. The principle is at work only in the Mandy Lee Incubator. The book is free. Write and ask for your copy.

C. P. VAN WINKLE

Secretary Texas State Branch

With forty-one charter members, the Texas Branch was chartered by the St. Louis convention in 1910. At the Denver meeting, they reported a membership of 118. The work of the first year was devoted largely to a campaign for membership, and the results attest the efficiency of the Texas "boosters." The annual meeting was held at Waco in November, and a nice cash balance was reported. Mr. C. P. VanWinkle, of Dallas, is secretary.

MOORHEAD'S ORPINGTONS WIN AGAIN.

G. B. Moorhead, of Lynchburg, Tenn., is certainly a lucky man. He always wins on his Buff Orpingtons at the leading shows. At Morristown he pulled down 2d cockerel, 2d pullet and 1st pen. Mr. Moorhead swears by The Industrious Hen. He says it is the biggest business puller for him he ever used.

Our Remarkable WINNINGS on ANCONAS

The fact that OUR ANCONAS remain undefeated in the show room is positive evidence that we have the BEST ANCONAS. At the Tennessee State Fair, 1911, in a class of 53 birds, some of which were from beyond the Ohio River, we won every first and second prize, and every third prize (except one), including first, second, third and fourth pen, with seven pens in competition. These same birds, after being confined at the State Fair a week in the hottest weather ever experienced in a show room, were sent 200 miles to the Appalachian Exposition, where they competed against fresh birds from only a short distance, and while we lost two first prizes competed for at this show, which can only be attributed to the previous confinement and their poor condition therefrom, we won more points, in a class of 75 birds, than all competitors combined. Does not this remarkable record establish the fact that we have the best? EGGS, $2.00 and $4.00 per 15.

GEO. ASHLEY

Secretary Arkansas State Branch

The Arkansas Branch of the A. P. A. was organized in July, 1910, with twenty-five charter members. The work of the branch has been directed along practical lines. It organized the Arkansas Schools Poultry Club, the object of which is to teach poultry culture in all the public schools of the State.

Through the efforts of officers of the branch, the breeders and fanciers of the State have donated breeding stock sufficient to equip practical demonstration plants at the four district agricultural school farms, at the State Normal School, and the poultry plant at the State College of Agriculture. Mr. G. C. Watkins is president and Mr. Geo. Ashley is secretary of the Arkansas branch.

Secretary Georgia State Branch

The Georgia Branch was organized in June, 1911, and now has about sixty members. Through the efforts of the association, the Georgia legislature appropriated $4,000 for the extension of agricultural work at the State University. The interest in good poultry has been greatly increased, and two of the best poultry shows ever held in the South were held in Atlanta this winter. The Georgia branch has things humming, is ably officered, and enthusiasm is high. Judge F. J. Marshall of College Park, is president; C. O. Harwell, of Atlanta, secretary.

F. S. BULLINGTON

Secretary Virginia State Branch

I am truly glad that Nashville is making such a strong effort to secure the 1912 convention of the A. P. A. Why should not the national body meet with us here in the South, giving us all a chance to drop in. Perhaps there is a dark horse among us that would stir up something of benefit to the association as well as to the fraternity. I feel sure that if Nashville does get the convention of 1912 it will be of great benefit to us here in Virginia. We were only this year organized, but expect great things from the organization. We think the South should be shown some consideration in the selection of the meeting places. It would bring us all closer together on the workings of the outside as well as the inside. Keep up the good work and land the convention for Nashville if possible. Virginia is for Nashville.—F. S. Bullington, secretary, Richmond, Va.

GERMOZONE

Chick time will soon be here. Start them right. No profit in unhealthy chicks. Healthy breeding stock means healthy hatched chicks. If disease appears later—that's your fault. Germozone is the best cure for Bowel Complaint, Cholera, and Indigestion that you can find anywhere. Your little chicks will live and thrive if given Germozone twice-a-week in all drinking water.

Either tablet or liquid.
Price 50 cts.

Lee's Egg Maker

Feed Lee's Egg Maker regularly and watch results. No experiment. It forces heavy laying because it is rich in digestible protein, the great egg-making element. Hens eat it greedily because it supplies what other foods lack. They digest it all. There is no waste. It repays its cost many times over in extra eggs produced.

Prices 25c to $7.00, according to size.

Lee's goods are on sale in almost every town, but if yours is an exception, send your order direct to us and ask for our free offer.

REST AND HEALTH TO MOTHER AND CHILD.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for over SIXTY YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. It SOOTHES the CHILD, SOFTENS the GUMS, ALLAYS all PAIN; CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHŒA. It is absolutely harmless. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

FRANK L. SMITH
President Kentucky State Branch

The Kentucky Branch was organized at Lexington on November 16, 1910. At that time there were twenty-two members of the A. P. A. in Kentucky, which number has since been more than doubled. In January, 1911, the branch held a poultry institute at the show of the Kentucky State Poultry Association, at which time Prof. Robt. R. Slocum, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, delivered his lecture on "Poultry Raising on the Farm." The Kentucky branch was a part of the old South Central branch; and lost no time in forming a State association when that organization was dissolved. Frank L. Smith, is president, and Roger V. Harp secretary of the Kentucky State branch.

C. L. BAKER, Memphis, Tenn.
President Tennessee State Branch

Immediately after the dissolution of the South Central Branch of the A. P. A., Tennessee applied for a charter for a State branch. An active campaign was at once entered into for the enlargement of the poultry industry in the State. Committees on legislation, membership, shows and express were appointed. A bill was presented to the legislature, praying the appointment of a poultry commissioner, and an appropriation for the conduct of such an office. The bill failed in the House for lack of a constitutional majority, after passing the Senate.

The week of Sept. 25 to 30, 1911, was designated as poultry week at the Appalachian Exposition at Knoxville, and a most successful poultry institute was addressed by Secretary Campbell, President Hicks, Hon. John H. Robinson, Prof. R. V. Mitchell, and others. The outlook seems very promising for a successful year's work in 1912.

Secretary West Virginia State Branch

The West Virginia Branch is one of the oldest in the South. There has been a substantial increase in the poultry industry of the State, several large plants have been established and new poultry shows held. Interest in the affairs of the Branch is more intense than at any time in the past. The financial condition of the Branch is excellent, and the officers are hopeful of a continued growth. Horace Atwood, of Morgantown, is president, and Thomas S. Meek, of Wheeling, secretary.

Black and White MINORCAS

My birds have "Quality" stamped all over them. My winnings at Tennessee State Fair, Appalachian Exposition and Lebanon, where I won more blue ribbons than all competitors combined, amply demonstrate the fact. My BLACK MINORCA stock is originally of the Northup Strain, and has since been improved by the purchase of the grand winners of Mr. J. C. Vaughan, of Lebanon, Tenn., who for several years was undefeated in the South's best shows. In WHITE MINORCAS, I have the best to be found anywhere. They stand foremost among the good birds of the country in this variety, and remain undefeated in the show room. STOCK FOR SALE with a guarantee to please behind it. Eggs—$3.00 and $5.00 per 15.

PRAISE FROM GOODLIN

In speaking of the poultry show recently held at Mobile, Ala., the awards of which appeared in our last issue, the Mobile Daily Item had the following to say:

"Mr. F. A. Goodlin, representing The Industrious Hen, a poultry publication of Knoxville, Tenn., was on the grounds yesterday, and said that in his opinion this was one of the finest poultry shows in the South, and that there is a great future for the business. He was very much pleased with the exhibit he saw here at the fair."

WHITE PLYMOUTH ROCKS

A breeder whose White Plymouth Rocks have made for him an enviable reputation in the show room is M. F. Shultes, 748 South Barksdale Ave., Memphis, Tenn. This season Mr. Shultes has exhibited at Memphis, New Orleans and Atlanta, and his birds have won in these shows their share of the ribbons.

BERNICE POULTRY BLOCK ORPINGTONS.

At Bernice, La., is located the Bernice Poultry Block, T. E. Newton, proprietor. They keep S. C. White Orpingtons exclusively, and have made some nice winnings at leading Southern shows this winter, including New Orleans, Monroe, La., etc. Mr. Newton also purchased all the New Orleans winners of C. S. Byers, Hazelrigg, Ind., and these, added to his own birds make his one of the best flocks of White Orpingtons in the South. Mr. Newton is just now issuing a handsome mating list from the press of The Industrious Hen, and will be glad to have you send for a copy.

THE INDUSTRIOUS HEN CO., Knoxville, Tenn.

MRS. C. B. CAMPBELL

Secretary North Carolina State Branch

I am sending you herewith a brief report of the North Carolina Branch of the American Poultry Association. A temporary organization was effected August, 1910. A charter was applied for and granted at the St. Louis convention. The first annual meeting was held at Asheville, Dec. 8, 1910, when it was made permanent and new officers elected. The meeting was well attended, and several new members enrolled. Our membership is composed of the very best material, and ere another year, we hope to largely increase our membership and accomplish great work for the advancement of the poultry industry in our grand old State, for the future outlook is very promising. It is also our purpose to encourage institute work in connection with our shows, for there is nothing so helpful as good lectures on poultry culture. We held an institute in connection with the Asheville show last year, and had very interesting lectures by Mr. J. S. Jeffrey (our esteemed president), and Mr. L. B. Audigier, of Knoxville. These lectures were indeed very helpful. They strengthened our weakness, and put new life in us, and we took up our work with renewed energy and have kept constantly at it. We want to get in close touch with our farmers, and encourage them to get better poultry and more of it, and we will not be content until we see all the old uncultivated fields and hills covered with poultry plants instead of daisies and other useless plants.

Now, in behalf of the North Carolina Branch, I hereby extend an invitation to the American Poultry Association to hold its 1912 meeting in the South, and as Nashville is centrally located, there is no better place for holding this convention. Everybody Vote for Nashville. —Mrs. C. B. Campbell, secretary-treasurer, Asheville, N. C.

WHITE LEGHORN BANTAMS

At the Southern International Poultry Show, Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 1911, Monte Vista Poultry Yards, Greenville, S. C., won 1st pen; 1st and 4th cockerel; 1st and 2d pullet, and 2d hen; silver cup for best pair.

PRODUCTS DELIVERED FREE.

CUSTOMERS WRITE MR. SPEARMAN.

Mr. N. B. Spearman, of Ida, La., whose S. C. Brown Leghorns have been the talk of the Southwest for the past several years, sends us some extracts of letters received by him from his customers, as follows: One writes, "I won first pen at Georgia State Fair, Macon." Another, "I won first and second pullet, first pen at Shreveport. Another, "I won first, third and fourth hen, Dallas, Texas." Another, "I won at Honey Grove, 1-3-5 cock, 1-2-3 pullet, 1-2-3-4-5 hen, 1-2 pen, silver cup for best bird in show, and special for best pen in show." Mr. Spearman claims to have other letters from customers of like character.

T. D. SMITH WINS AT ATLANTA.

Mr. T. D. Smith, Route 8, Knoxville, Tenn., at the great Southern International Poultry Show at Atlanta, Dec., 1911, won first and third pen, first pullet, cup for best display, and cup for best parti-colored pen in show on his Barred Plymouth Rocks. Mr. Smith entered twelve birds, and eleven of them were in the winning. He is now booking orders for eggs.

PARTRIDGE PLYMOUTH ROCKS.

In the list of winnings at the Atlanta show, published in this magazine last month, we unintentionally omitted the name of Mr. F. C. Farmer, Abbeville, Ga., who won first pen. This certainly speaks well for Mr. Farmer's birds, as competition was very keen in all classes at Atlanta.

SELLS FINE PLYMOUTH ROCKS

Saturday Miss Nannie Whitfield, of this city, one of the leading poultry fanciers in this section, sold a pen of Barred Plymouth Rocks to Mr. Sandy Wall for $50. This pen took second prize at the Tennessee State Fair last fall, and it was while on exhibition there that Mr. Wall first saw them. He later got in correspondence with Miss Whitfield and Saturday closed the deal.—Clarksville (Tenn.) Leaf-Chronicle.

FINEST LOT EVER RAISED

Mrs. Clara M. Baker, of Antioch, Tenn., says she will be able to give her customers eggs from the finest lot of stock she ever raised. That she has as good Barred Rocks, White Wyandottes and S. C. Brown Leghorns as can be found is evidenced by her great winnings this season at Nashville, Chattanooga and Atlanta, in which shows she won 22 prizes, including five firsts and several specials.

BOYS' POULTRY CLUB ORGANIZED.

At a most enthusiastic meeting of the boys interested in poultry raising, at Winston-Salem, N. C., an organization to be known as the "Y. M. C. A. Boys' Poultry Club" was formed on Dec. 28. The officers elected were as follows: Wm. M. Hannon, president; Reynolds Cuthbertson, vice-president; James Volger, secretary, and A. C. Sheldon, treasurer. Plans for the future of the club have been arranged, and they are to take a decided interest in boosting the poultry show annually held at that place.

ANCONA CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS.

The annual election of officers of the Tennessee Branch of the International Ancona Club was held at the Morristown show. C. T. Taylor, of Knoxville, was elected State vice-president; L. M. Barrett, secretary. Executive committee—Jas. B. Dismukes, Knoxville, chairman; W. F. Bayless, Morristown, and Messrs. Taylor and Barrett. While the place of meeting for next year was not definitely decided, it will probably be held at the Tennessee State

OFFERS HANDSOME CATALOGUE

The Wayne Poultry Farm, F. W. Christie, Prop., Box 52, Stony Point, N. Y., breeders of S. C. White and Brown Leghorns, have issued a handsome catalogue which they will be glad to send free to those interested in these breeds. Their breeding pens this season contain nearly 600 birds—all of them typical Leghorns.

WILLIAMS' ORPINGTONS.

A breeder whose Orpingtons are certain to establish for him a permanent trade and pleased customers is C. M. Williams, East Chattanooga, Tenn. He exhibited seven birds at the Chattanooga show, which was held during the week of Dec. 11-16, and won five ribbons. His winnings were first cockerel; first, third and fourth pullet and first pen. Not only did he make a creditable winning in the greatest class in the show, but he showed Orpingtons that were true Orpington type—not the Plymouth Rock or Red shape so often seen. His color is fine, but what impressed us most was the low-set, long-bodied birds he had on exhibition. The first prize pullet weighed eight pounds at the show. Judge T. Reid Parrish stated that she was the most perfect specimen he had ever seen, and he has judged shows all over the country. Mr. Williams will have nine pens mated for the 1912 egg trade.

ALABAMA BRANCH.

Twelve new members in the past three weeks and quite a large number in sight. We are very much pleased with the progress the branch is making in this State, and we hope to accomplish great things and interest many people in our work. The A. P. A. LARGE SIZES OF SURE HATCH INCUBATORS

Every reader of this paper is familiar with the celebrated Sure Hatch Incubator which is as well, or better, known than any other in America. The manufacturers of this machine have just put upon the market two new and larger sizes than they have heretofore built. The new machines are 400 and 600 egg capacity. These larger sizes are made in response to a big demand for larger machines than their 200 egg size.

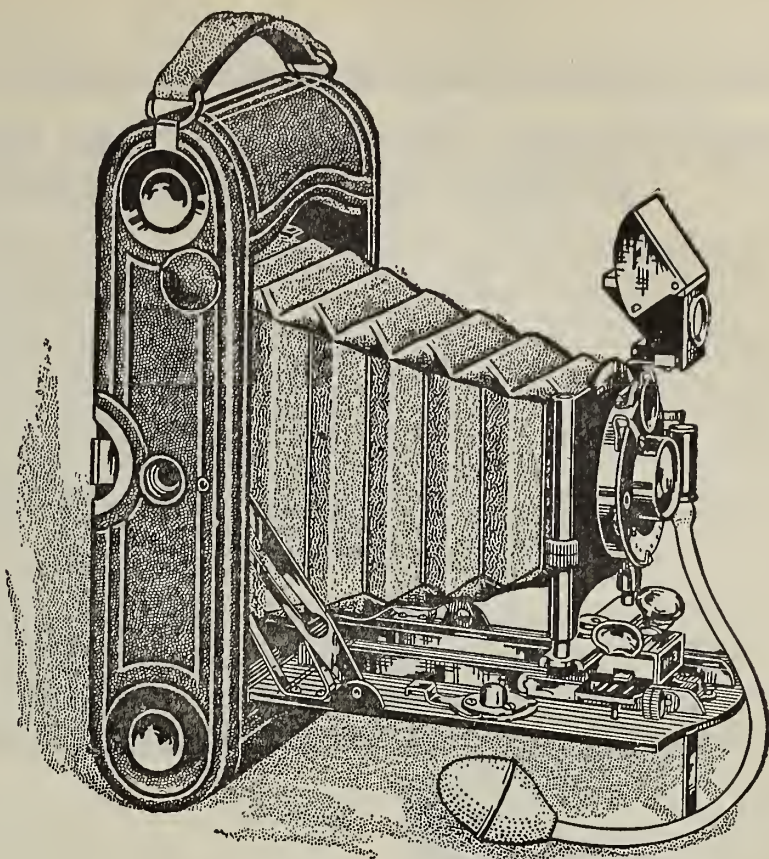

More than a year ago the company got up these new machines, but did not offer them for sale until they had been actually tried out. They were tested last winter and found to be entirely satisfactory. Quite a number were sold late in the spring and the best of reports have come in from them. The flattering reception given these new sizes has led the Sure Hatch company to put them on the market this season.

Their style of construction makes them easy to operate, and they have so many advantages over others of like capacity that there can be no doubt they will have a large sale, especially

ON THE FARM.

Pictures of stock that you have to sell, pictures showing the development of animals at a certain age, of crops at a certain stage of growth, of buildings, and of ditches and fences and roads—all these can be used to advantage in systematizing and making your farm profitable.

Pictures of your family and friends, pictures of the places you visit and the things you and your family are interested in—these will add to the pleasure of home life for all the household.

And you can make such pictures.

The operation of a Kodak requires no technical knowledge. The little book that accompanies each camera tells how to take the pictures, how to develop the negatives and how to make the prints, all in a simple way that the beginner can easily understand. And by the Kodak system there's no dark-room for any part of the work.

I consider OCULUM one of the best conditioners and revivers of tired showbirds I have ever come across. I brought my celebrated team of White Orpingtons and White Taverolles all the way from England—three thousand miles—right from a run of the big English shows which started August 14, and on landing inoculated them with OCULUM right off with results. I scored first on (Taverolle) hen, first on cock, first on pen; and in White Orpington, first on cock, third on cockerel and fourth on pen. I think nothing can prove the benefit that results from prompt use of OCULUM better than these results.—MISS S. CARY, Toynon Rectory, Spillsby, England.

Last August I saw Oculum cure a chicken suffering in the last stages of Cholera. I never before had an actual demonstration of any preparation that would cure Cholera in its worst stages.—H. G. HUMPHREYS, President Chattanooga Poultry Association, Chattanooga, Tenn.

GEM INCUBATOR FACTORY.

The Industrious Hen is very glad to print below the picture of the new Gem Incubator factory at Greenville, Ohio, and only regrets that this picture does not do justice to the factory, as it was taken before its completion and before it was in full operation. The Gem Incubator, as our readers are well aware, has been located at Trotwood, Ohio, for some years, but the rapid progress of the Company and the increasing demand for its production, made it necessary for the company to build a larger plant and locate where better railroad facilities would facilitate their heavy shipments. The company is now fully installed in its new plant at Greenville, Ohio, and running full time every day and in excellent shape to take care of all orders promptly. It is something over fifteen years since J. W. Sauer, President of the Gem Incubator Company, began in a small way to manufacture the Gem Incubator. There is not much resemblance between the Gem Incubator of fifteen years ago and the one today, and yet it is significant that the principles upon which Mr. Sauer worked out his incubator, more than a decade ago, is very much the same today. Improvements have been made, but the fundamental principle was right then, and it is right today. Mr. Sauer thinks that the phenomenal growth of his business is due largely to the fact that from year to year he has not been obliged to abandon the working plans of the year previous and offer to the public an entirely new proposition. He believes that the development of his original idea year after year has been the largest single influence in building the confidence in which the Gem Incubator is held. In addition to the large business done in incubators, the Gem Incubator Company is also a very large manufacturer of breeding and exhibition coops, and as is the case with its incubators, the Gem coops are looked upon by the leading fanciers as among the most reliable, convenient and durable coops on the market.

Christie's S. C. White and Brown Leghorns

Remember we are the originators of these two famous strains of Leghorns, and in the hands of our thousands of pleased customers, they have proven to be just as we have represented them for the past twelve years—the greatest layers of large, white-shelled eggs in the world today. Then why waste your valuable time and good money purchasing cheap and inferior stock, when we can furnish you with a foundation that will be without an equal? Our breeding pens this season contain six hundred of the finest Single Comb White and Brown Leghorns that we have ever owned—each and every bird a typical Leghorn, each and every bird with an egg record. GOOD WIRE FENCING.

There are just three things to keep in mind when selecting a good wire fence—the quality of the steel; the size of the wires; and the grade as well as the thickness of the galvanizing. If farmers would look into these very important features when buying their material, less complaint would be heard about rusty, no-account fences. No doubt there are just as good wire fences made today as ever before, in fact, better; but care should be exercised in buying and farmers should study the merits of all fences before placing their order. One of our oldest advertisers, the Brown Fence & Wire Company, Cleveland, Ohio, Dept. 37, now issues a complete catalog bearing upon this subject. We believe they make a very satisfactory and durable fence; otherwise we would have heard from some of our subscribers if their fence was faulty in any way. This catalog is full of valuable fence information and those interested would do well to send for it, which is free upon request.

HOW TO SAVE INCUBATOR CHICKS.

Dear Editor: I have been in the poultry business eighteen years and have lost thousands of incubator chicks with bowel trouble. Having found a remedy, I want to tell others through your columns. I saw Walker's Roup and Cholera Remedy highly recommended, so sent a 50c (m. o.) to the Walker Remedy Co., F.7, Lamoni, Iowa, and received a package, postpaid. I took off a hatch of 100 chicks March 10, and gave them the medicine occasionally. By April 15, I had lost only four and the rest are all doing fine and nearly feathered. I also saved a pen of valuable R. R. chicks that were weak and droopy. I find the remedy most valuable for incubator chicks—it prevents bowel trouble and is a fine tonic. I never had chickens develop so rapidly.

Price Cut Right Half-in-Two on the New Buffalo Incubator

THE WHOLE STORY IN AN "EGG-SHELL" is that I have cut my expenses down to rock-bottom by eliminating expensive branch houses and managers, the printing of expensive catalogues and literature, with the postage on same, and all other selling expenses. All this saving goes into making an even better incubator than last year.

You get the benefit, for I am going to send you a better machine than you could buy elsewhere at double the price.

The New Buffalo Equipment

Perfect ventilation—three compartment heater—accurate regulation—egg trays covered with galvanized wire cloth—strongly made legs of heavy metal, nicely shaped—double door—deep nursery—safety lamp, and all materials throughout of the best. I am offering all these new improvements in the Standard Buffalo Incubator at half-price—a saving of 50% to you. Why should you pay twice my price for an incubator not up to the new Buffalo Standard?

YOU GET THESE LOW PRICES:

INCUBATION AND INCUBATORS.

be done before the eggs go into the egg chamber. It is easier and safer to experiment with the lamp and the regulator when the egg chamber is empty than when the machine is full of eggs. A few hours spent in adjustment will be saved later on. Nearly every machine is accompanied by a card of directions for operating it, which should be studied and followed.

It is not the province of this article to explain the individual peculiarities of the regulators of different makes, but rather to show what results are to be sought. The damper over the top of the chimney should be kept free from the chimney, say about one-eighth of an inch of space being left between or around the margin of the damper. If you are using a hot-water machine, allowance must be made accordingly and leakage looked for before setting the eggs. The general principle, so far as the regulator and the lamp are concerned, is the same in all machines. At the end of the experimental twenty-four hours, again fill the lamp and trim the wick, and with the machine running steadily at 100° F. the egg tray, loaded according to directions given below, can be placed in the egg chamber. The eggs should be clean and dry and should have been prepared and balanced as suggested in the early part of this article. When filling the trays put in eggs enough to fill completely every space, with every egg lying upon its side. Do not stand the eggs upon end nor pile them one upon another. The filled tray being now placed in the egg chamber, close the door, being careful not to slam it and so disturb the regulator or the lamp. The machine can now be left by itself an hour. At the end of that time visit it, and if the thermometer still stands at 100° leave it again for another hour. At the third visit it may be necessary to turn the regulator thumbscrew, or the wick may need raising or lowering a little. It will be a matter of judgment at first whether you change the wick or the regulator. In most cases, if the blaze is about right, it is best to leave it so and to more completely balance the machine by a slight manipulation of the regulator, for if this is nicely done upon the start the temperature can be controlled during the entire period of incubation by slightly turning the wick. Note the repetition: Have your flame to suit you at the outset, leave it so, and adjust the regulator accordingly.

It takes twenty-four hours to properly test the lamp and adjust the regulator. During this time the eggs are gradually warming up, and the operator is supposed to be watching the machine and studying his instruction book. If a hot-air machine is used, some allowance must be made for the time occupied in warming the tank, unless it is filled with water already warmed. Let the operator bear in mind that each incubator has its own peculiarities and must be learned and managed accordingly. Another thing to note is that the manufacturer of an incubator is likely to understand its management and the operator is setting up and starting the machine; but, while the manufacturer understands the mechanical details of the construction and adjustment of his goods, his notions about the future management of his or any other machine may not be at all like, nor at all superior to, those of some other manufacturer. This is illustrated in natural incubation. One farmer sets all his hens in straw nests, another sets them all in chaff nests, another sets them all upon the ground and in earth nests, but the results are about the same. Methods may seem to differ and yet results may be very much alike.

Cooling.—Many successful poultry men pay little attention to cooling the eggs further than to take plenty of time in turning. Much depends upon the machine, and more upon the condition of the atmosphere. If not exposed to draft or sunlight, the eggs can be left outside the machine for fifteen or twenty minutes and be none the worse for the exposure, but, as a rule, an exposure of five minutes is sufficient. That some cooling is necessary seems borne out in natural incubation by the practice of the hen, which leaves her nest from ten to sixty minutes every morning. Of course, the hen may do this for her own accommodation, but it seems to be part of the program in natural hatching, and better results are obtained when the eggs are cooled somewhat every day. This practice of cooling should be continued to the eighteenth day. Right here it may be well to advise the inexperienced operator to keep the egg chamber closed after the evening of the eighteenth day and until the close of the hatch.

Moisture.—This subject is one upon which opinions differ vastly. In the opinion of the writer much depends upon the incubator, its location, and the external atmosphere. All agree that a certain amount of moisture is needed. In natural incubation the hen leaves her nest early in the morning, while the dew is yet upon the grass, and if caught upon her return to the nest her feathers will be found to be wet. Yet some of the most successful hatches have been made by hens that were not allowed to leave the hatching pen. Hence the argument is not settled. But, from the fact that the early morning atmosphere is damp and the eggs are exposed to this moist atmosphere while the hen is off the nest, it is safe to infer that a limited amount of moisture is essential. If the incubator stands in a damp cellar, a very good hatch can be made without the introduction of any moisture into the egg chamber; while upon the other hand, if the machine is located in a dry room and the weather is dry, a poor hatch can be expected if no moisture is supplied. Many different methods of supplying moisture have been suggested, but most experienced operators incline to the simplest methods. A small sponge saturated with pure water can be placed in the egg chamber and allowed to remain there overnight, or a saucer containing a little water can be placed in the bottom of the egg chamber and left from time to time, or the hand of the operator can be dipped in warm water and brushed lightly over the eggs just before they are returned to the machine in the morning.

Testing.—The egg will show signs of hatching within thirty hours of its first exposure to heat. Along about the twenty-eighth hour a point denoting the head and another denoting the heart will appear. About the forty-fifth hour the expert can detect a slight motion of the heart. In about seventy hours the membrane known as the allantois is visible. This envelope is the temporary breathing apparatus of the chick. On the fifth day the streaks denoting the limbs can be seen. On the sixth day the liver can be located, and a slight voluntary motion is observable. By the seventh day the lungs, stomach, and brain development; the eyes can be found by the tenth day! and on the twelfth day feathers begin to form. The bill opens and shuts by the fifteenth day, and the cry of the chick is heard about the eighteenth day. Soon after, or early in the nineteenth day, the chick bursts the air cell at the end of the egg and begins to use its lungs in breathing. From this time it grows rapidly and soon becomes strong enough to break through the shell.

The air cell.—Books upon incubation devote much space to this subject. The writer thinks it cuts but little figure in the work of the operator. If the air cell is too large the egg is too dry, while if not large enough the egg is too moist, and the moisture supply can be governed accordingly. Experience will teach the operator much more about the air space than will written pages, and until he is experienced he need not attach very great importance to it unless it be unusually large or small. By the end of the sixteenth day this occupies about one-fifth of the space in the egg, and the chick ought to occupy the remainder of this space. The air cell gradually increases until the eighteenth day. Upon the eighteenth day, or the nineteenth day at most, the eggs are turned and cooled for the last time. After this do not disturb the eggs. If necessary, partly close the ventilator slide. Leave the door closed. Of course, the thermometer must be watched and the lamp filled and trimmed more carefully than ever. Do not be alarmed if the thermometer shows a temperature of 104° at this time. No harm will be done if the eggs are kept at that temperature a few hours.

The operator is again cautioned to let the eggs alone during the last two days of incubation. If the door must be opened to rearrange the thermometer or to supply moisture, it should be for a brief period only, and great care should be exercised not to jar nor change the positions of the eggs. But the lamp should be kept in good order and the regulator and thermometer watched closely. Some of this has been stated before, but it will bear repeating, for many a good hatching prospect has been blighted by over-anxiety and curiosity.

At the end of the twenty-first day open the door and pull the tray partly forward. Then remove the shells and, if any chick is found with the shell dried upon it or in any way attached to it, carefully liberate the chick and place it in the nursery below. Then carefully close the door and let the machine alone for another six hours unless the eggs are all hatched sooner.

The eggs about all hatched, now is the time to clean and set up the brooder, which should be heated a few hours before the chicks are removed from the nursery. After the hatch is completed and the chicks are removed from the nursery, the machine should be taken apart, carefully cleaned, and set right for future use. The brooder should be started at about 98° F. and gradually lowered at the rate of 1° a week, according to the weather and the experience and judgment of the poultry man.

The chicks should not be fed until they are thoroughly dried and have been out of the incubator at least twenty-four hours. The first feed should be fine sharp grit or sand, upon which is sprinkled a very little hard-boiled egg chopped fine. After this they should be fed every three hours a little broken grain or, better yet, some of the excellent prepared dry chick foods upon the market. Clean, fresh water should be supplied from the start. Wet, sloppy food should be avoided. If none of the manufactured chick foods are at hand, a substitute can be made by cracking a mixture of wheat, corn, and egg shells. Any good poultry journal will give valuable hints upon the subject of raising chickens in brooders.

G. E. GUVERNATOR
President Virginia State Branch.

A VISIT TO ALDRICH POULTRY FARM. By our Special Correspondent.

When I called at Maplehurst, the stately residence on the Aldrich Poultry Farm, one mile north of the city of Columbus, Ohio, on the Columbus, Delaware and Marion Electric railroad, I found a beautiful tract of 23 acres overlooking the Olentangy River and as delightful a view as could be found in many a day's journey.

As this was at the time of the great Baltimore show, the first week in January, I found only two of the members of the firm at home, the father and younger son. The older son and the manager, Mr. George May, being at Baltimore at the exhibition. When they learned my purpose in the vicinity, then I found that they were greatly excited and pleased at the news received by wire from Baltimore, that their birds had taken 13 of the 25 prizes in the S. C. White Orpington class, were 160 birds were in competition, on 16 entries by them, and that this included the five first and three of the second prizes. I learned that their first cock, "White King," was the sire of the cock heading their first pen and of their fourth cockerel, and that the cock himself was the son of a first prize winner at one of the large shows, and had headed a prize pen at Madison Square Garden in December. They claim that this is an unprecedented record in a breeding line.

I have since learned that their first hen, "Enchantress," created great excitement, as the Philadelphia and Pittsburg, as well as the Baltimore papers, treated her as the most wonderful hen in the country. As she had won two first prizes at Madison Square before the Baltimore show, where she was considered to be in a class by herself.

I found the plant to be strictly up-to-date in buildings and equipment. The main building having incubator room piped for natural gas with compressed air water tanks, electric motor gas, gas range, hard and soft hot water tanks; office, conditioning room and drying room. The plant was equipped with Cyphers Incubators and Paradise Sectional Brooders. Brooder house, with 10 hovers with hot water heating. Laying house of eleven pens, 6x9 feet, and grain room and water pipes, with all modern improvements; and smaller houses with ten pens for breeding. Several colony houses were in evidence.

I found that the birds at Baltimore were not half of their exhibition winners, as they had won prizes with other birds at St. Louis, Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Williamsport, Nashville, Columbus, Indianapolis and Pittsburg, during the year 1911.

Their utility pens, eight in number, were of pure Kellerstrass strain, mated by their experienced manager, Mr. Geo. May, to male birds of fine shape, size and color, and nearly all of their prize winners of the exhibitions this year.

This firm does not believe in selling their winners, but desire that with the experience of Mr. May, to breed as scientifically as any establishment in the world, and hope to make the name of Aldrich known wherever the S. C. White Orpington is bred. Their address is Station B, Columbus, Ohio.

With a new 1912 Cycle or Brooder Hatcher. Our new discovery makes poultry keeping easy and profits sure. Our machines were used in the original Philo System Plant where over $1500 from 60 hens in ten months has been cleared from the sale of eggs, baby chicks and fowls. One of the largest plants in America saved over $700 by using our system of brooding. We sell the best brooder ever made for $2.50.

One party hatched and raised $500 worth of poultry last year with four Metal Mothers, and hundreds of others are delighted with our machines and our new way of raising poultry. Our combination machine hatches and broods perfectly at the same time with only one lamp and one-fifth the oil used in other machines. Once filling the lamp completes the hatch. It runs as steadily as a clock in any room, from cellar to garret, and our Long-Burning Safety Lamp runs on for weeks without attention. It is the only machine that airs the eggs in the natural way and applies the heat to chickens like the mother hen.

POULTRY RAISERS WELCOME BIG DISCOVERY.

One of the severest handicaps with which poultry raisers have had to deal has been the prevalence of Roup, White Diarrhea and Gapes among fowls. A rather remarkable chain of letters has come to our recent attention that would appear to solve the problem. We publish these letters in the belief that the information may be of value to some of our subscribers.

The first communication originated with the Mentzer Duck Farm, known to many as the Pen Mar Duck Farm. This duck farm, located in Waynesboro, lost from $10,000 to $15,000 worth of ducks inside of thirty days. The letter was addressed to the Baltimore Sun, and read as follows:

"Will you kindly inform me what to do for my poultry? I have lost more than half of them. They are first affected with leg weakness, later with bowel disorders accompanied with bad odors, and die in less than 24 hours. Please let me know what to do for them."

To which the Sun replied, as follows:

"From the description given, your fowls have evidently developed a severe case of roup or cholera. Either of these diseases, if not checked, will prove very serious. While there are several home remedies that we might suggest, yet we believe that your needs will best be served by OCULUM. This is a wonderful medicine and highly recommended."

As a result of this endorsement of Oculum by the Sun, it was decided to try this remedy, and Mr. Miller, together with Maurice Harbaugh, local distributor for the Oculum people, inoculated the Mentzer ducks with Oculum. The results were unusual as shown by this letter written the manufacturers by the representative. The letter ran as follows:

"The Hancock Inoculum Co., Salem, Va.

Gentlemen: We visited D. B. Mentzer's duck farm this morning with your Mr. Miller and the results of his work yesterday were astonishing. To convince ourselves we went to his manager and asked him about a duck that Mr. Miller claimed he found flat on his back and the manager thought dead. Today we found the duck up and walking around. We also looked over the balance he had inoculated and from what the manager tells us there is every indication from present appearances that OCULUM will wipe out all trouble. Maurice Harbaugh, Fred Bartholow."

The claims set forth in this letter were later established by a communication from Rev. D. B. Mentzer to Mr. C. E. Miller, of the Hancock Inoculum Co., Salem, Va. Here is a reproduction of the letter.

"Mr. C. E. Miller of the Hancock Inoculum Co., Salem, Va., went to my duck farm yesterday and took ducks that my foreman said he was ready to destroy, and inoculated them. In fact, one duck was lying flat on his back and Mr. Miller said he could bring him back. He inoculated him and I am pleased to say that I walked into the coop where he had put him and the duck is well. I have had Oculum so thoroughly demonstrated to me that I recommend it to all duck raisers; and I firmly believe that all raisers of ducks, turkeys, chickens, pigeons, hogs, goats, sheep, calves and colts would do well to investigate Oculum, as the theory is right. PERFECT HATCHING BY ARTIFICIAL MEANS.

When an incubator hatches every fertile egg entrusted to its care, it may be said to have done perfect hatching. Not only will a strictly first-class modern incubator do this kind of hatching in the case of hen eggs and duck eggs, but it can be relied upon to hatch the eggs of other kinds of domestic fowl and of wild birds equally as well. Following is an example of this grade and variety of work, as

At the State Agricultural College, Storrs, Conn., the state game and fish commissioners are hatching partridge and quail eggs very successfully by artificial means.

done by the genuine Standard Cyphers Incubators, manufactured by Cyphers Incubator Company, Buffalo, N. Y., as detailed in a letter from Storrs Agricultural Experiment Station of the Connecticut Agricultural College:

"My Dear Mr. Curtis:—For quite a series of years it has been evident to the sportsmen of this state that the supply of native game birds is decreasing with great rapidity. In fact, conditions have reached such a pass that many well posted men feel that there is danger of complete extermination of both quail and partridge.

"In view of this fact the state fish and game commissioners have been giving much thought to the problem of restocking the natural covpartridge several clutches of eggs were secured from nests in the vicinity. In some cases the eggs were practically fresh, while in others they had been partially incubated by the breeding birds. In all, fifty-one eggs were secured, and these were placed in one of your smallest incubators, with the following results:

No. Eggs Set	No. Eggs hatched

"The work thus far accomplished leads us to believe that in the near future methods of management will be worked out whereby our native game birds can be reared in large numbers under artificial conditions.

Very sincerely yours,

F. H. STONEBURN.

In the above four hatches it is correct to say that the work of the incubator was perfect in at least three cases out of four, because in all trials except the second one, the incubator hatched every egg placed in it—three 100 per cent hatches.

119 EGGS FROM SEVEN PULLETS DURING DECEMBER.

I thought some of your readers might be interested in an experiment which I made last season. For the information of many of my customers who buy "Brown Beauty" cockerels for crossing with other breeds, or with common hens, to increase egg production, I made the following experiment:

I had three common hens which I had bought the previous year and used as setters. To these I mated a "Brown Beauty" cockerel; saved two settings of eggs; hatched them out about March 20, 1911; raised seven pullets; they began to lay in August, 1911, and continued right along during the fall months.

I concluded that the month of December would be a good test, so I kept a record—these seven pullets produced 119 eggs. They were housed in a small house, 8x8, and on bright days were let out into a dry run about 5x15, but were kept confined most of the time. They were fed and watered only once each day. I used the commercial scratch feed, scattered in a litter of leaves and straw early in the morning, and made them work for their living. I also kept a dry mash before them all the time; gave them green bone once each week, also furnished them with a small cabbage head once each week as green stuff.

I have been breeding Brown Leghorns since 1890, and have had "Brown Beauty" pullets begin to lay at four months and ten days of age. Any further information concerning this experiment will be furnished free to The Industrious Hen readers on application, if a 2 cent postage stamp is enclosed for a reply. J. H. HENDERSON, Knoxville, Tenn.

Philadelphia, Pa., Winnings, Dec. 14, 1911

First and third hen; first pen, second pullet, third cockerel; Special for best hen in show, all varieties competing; Special for best hen, pullet, cockerel, cock and pen.

These are the biggest winnings ever made by any White Orpington breeder in the United States, as they are the three leading shows of the country. The Nashville show was held in September, and the people of the South are fully six weeks ahead of us Northern breeders, but you will see that I was the biggest winner in the class.

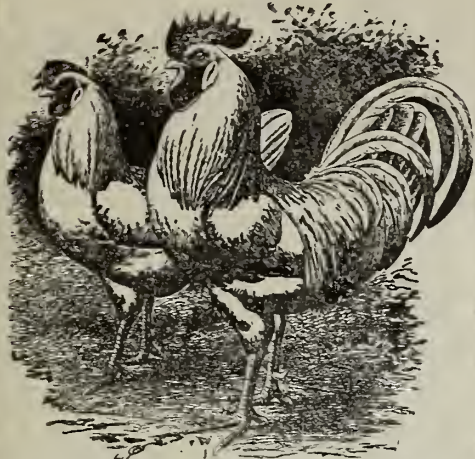

The Williamsport show ranks next to Philadelphia, and Philadelphia compares favorably with the great Madison Square Garden show. In the Williamsport show in the White Orpington cock class there were ten cocks entered. I won first and second. There were twenty-one White Orpington hens. I won first and second hen. There were twenty-two White Orpington cockerels. I won first cockerel. There were thirty White Orpington pullets. I won first and third. I won special prize for best pen in the show, with eighty-three pens competing. I won special prize for second best pen in show, eighty-three pens competing. This second pen were children of my first pen which is headed by my imported male bird, "English Lord." In the cock class I won first with "White Chester," my other English male bird. He also won Senator Cochrane's challenge cup for best bird in show, all varieties competing. He also won the Philadelphia Enquirer Bronze Medal for the best cock in show. He also won the Association Special for whitest male bird in show. My first cockerel, "Snow Storm," is a son of "White Chester." This cockerel also won silver cup for best cockerel in single classes and special for whitest cockerel. To win the color prize with a White Orpington male bird away from the Wyandotte, the Leghorn and the White Rock, that have been bred in this country for years, is to accomplish something I don't believe has been accomplished in this country in such a show as the great Williamsport show.

In the great Philadelphia show I was the biggest winner in the White Orpington class, being awarded special prize for best hen in show on my great hen, "Lady of Quality." In less than ten minutes after the awards went up, I was offered $1,000 for her. If you will write to the Philadelphia North American and get a copy of their Dec. 13th issue, you will see a full account of this offer. I declined it because she is advertised in my mating list in Yard No. 1, and it would not be fair to my customers to dispose of her. This made twelve straight victories for her without a break. I have birds of this quality for sale.

WHITING'S ROUPENE

Saves Poultrymen Annually $100,000 Because it

ACTUALLY DOES CURE ROUP

Even worst cases, even DIPHTHERITIC ROUP and CANKER. We don't care how bad the case so long as the bird is not in the last gasp of death. WHITING'S ROUPENE WILL CURE IT, and positively leave no bad after effects. ALL WE WANT IS THAT YOU TRY IT. Pick out a severe case, one in which you have tried other so-called remedies, and WE GUARANTEE TO CURE OR REFUND MONEY.

Whiting's Roupene is a genuine disease germ destroyer. That is the reason it takes right hold without fuss or delay. That is the reason it positively prevents White Diarrhoea in Baby Chicks. It's worth its weight in gold for this purpose alone. COLDS ARE EASY FOR ROUPENE. Neglected they run into Roup. Roupene is non-poisonous.

Roupene is easy to use, even the worst case is not penned off from flock. PREVENTS CONTAGION. Don't be persuaded to try anything else when Whiting's Roupene is the only remedy that has even claimed to cure DIPHTHERITIC ROUP. Agents wanted. 50 Cents a large bottle. Ask dealers or order direct. Printed matter free.

JUDGE DENNY PRAISES FRANK LANGFORD'S REDS.

It fell to the lot of the writer while judging at the Appalachian Exposition, held September 26-30, to place the awards in the Rhode Island Red classes. It has not often been our privilege to handle classes containing birds of such high quality, at either a fall or winter show, as were shown here by the exhibitors of the Single Comb variety of this breed. The quality in every class from pens to pullets, was above the average, and, as practically all of the exhibitors were from Southern states, it indicates the progress that is being made in the breeding of Standard-bred poultry in that section of the country.

Among the exhibits were two hens and two pullets shown by Frank Langford, Nashville, Tenn., that in our opinion were the four best S. C. Rhode Island Red females ever brought into a show room by one exhibitor. While the pullets were of exceedingly high quality, it was the hens that impressed us as being the best that we ever saw. Besides our wish to give credit to Mr. Langford for the success in showing such exceptional specimens, we believe that the point in which the readers of American Poultry World will be interested, is the fact that while good as the pullets were, the two hens shown by Mr. Langford excelled the color of his two remarkable pullets. We were so much taken with them that in company with a number of well-known poultrymen, including President Hicks and Secretary Campbell of the American Poultry Association, John H. Robinson, Editor of Farm-Poultry, U. R. Fishel, C. I. Fishel, F. L. Kummer and others, we compared the two hens with the two pullets and commented on the remarkable lustre, strength and evenness of their color which was at least equal, if not superior to that of the pullets.

These two beautiful "rich, even red" hens have further established our belief that Rhode Island Red females whose plumage after moult is the equal of pullets can be and are being produced, much to the credit of the skillful breeders who have made remarkable progress in improving both color and shape, during the past ten years.—Judge Wm. C. Denny, in American Poultry World.

BLACK ORPINGTONS

I make the positive statement that I have one of the best flocks of BLACK ORPINGTONS in the South. A visit to my farm will convince any one. At the SOUTHERN INTERNATIONAL POULTRY SHOW, on ten entries, I won ten ribbons and two silver loving cups. Over one hundred male and female birds of very best quality for sale at moderate price. Eggs for hatching from three yards. First yard headed by the best cock I ever saw. He won first as a cockerel at Chicago. Second yard headed by the cock that won the $50.00 cup offered by Wm. Cook & Sons at the December show in Atlanta. Third yard headed by cockerel winning first at the same show. The females in these breeding yards are a grand lot, many of them prize winners, and some of them imported.

I also have three magnificent yards of BUFF ORPINGTONS. In WHITES I have four matchless yards. When I tell you that I have in one of my yards the hens that won first, second, third, fourth and fifth at Atlanta in December, and that they are mated to a grand first prize cock bird, you can judge for yourself as to the strength of my WHITE ORPINGTONS. For Egg prices, see Breeders' Card. Write me.

EGGS from Pure Bred BARRED PLYMOUTH ROCKS

This is my first appearance as an advertiser in this paper, and I can truly say, that I think I can give everyone their money's worth in buying my eggs. I have cockerel and pullet breeding pens for exhibition birds; also have several fine utility breeding pens, composed of large, vigorous birds, averaging in weight from seven to ten pounds. All stock in cockerel and pullet breeding pens have taken prizes in different shows, as have some of the birds in the utility pens. EGGS—Cockerel and pullet breeding pens, $4.00 per setting of 15; Utility pens, $2.00 per setting of 15.

WHITE ORPINGTONS

Superb Type :: Superior Quality

MY BIRDS are absolutely white, of that deep-bodied type, low down on legs, up to weight, and I know I can please you. At the last and greatest show held at Madison Square Garden, I again control the winning male birds. My winnings include First Cock, Third Pen, Fifth Pen, and the Cockerel heading the first pen. The winning cock is without doubt, the greatest White Orpington in the world, having defeated the Crystal Palace champion and all the great cocks of America. These great birds, together with my other prize winners, places RUSSELL CAVE WHITE ORPINGTONS far in the lead. Both at Allentown and Augusta, the only other two shows I have made this year, I won at each the cup to that exhibitor whose ten or more birds of one variety showed the highest degree of excellency and uniformity of type and breeding. This record of winning in two of the most important poultry shows in this country the cup for the best ten birds has never been equaled by any other breeder in America.

GREAT STAMINA AND VIGOR

Are to be found in my birds not usually found in White Orpingtons. One hundred acres in RUSSELL CAVE POULTRY YARDS and over SEVEN THOUSAND ACRES IN "ELMENDORF FARM." Every bird guaranteed as represented and sold with the privilege of return. Write us today for Catalogue and Mating List which gives full winnings of previous years at Madison Square Garden, Allentown, Kansas City, Baltimore, etc.

PRIZE WINNERS—White Rocks and S. C. White Leghorns

My stock kept up its good record work by winning TEN prizes on sixteen entries, at the SAVANNAH SHOW. For Quality my White Plymouth Rocks cannot be surpassed. They have won wherever exhibited, including all the best shows in the South. Have won over 100 prizes, in the hottest competition, at ATLANTA, Appalachian Exposition, Augusta, Asheville, Greensboro and other first class shows. Eggs from these birds $3 for 15. In S. C. White Leghorns I have the very best that can be secured, and my show record shows that I have QUALITY stock in this breed. Eggs from same pens that I hatch my winners $2 for 15. QUALITY counts. You may beat these prices, but the QUALITY never.

WHITE WYANDOTTES

FOR UTILITY and BEAUTY HEAD THE LIST

is our production and represents almost a lifetime of careful breeding and scientific mating. They hold an unbroken record for years, taking the prizes in every leading show when entered, either by us or our hundreds of customers. Our stock is all pure bred and line bred and has and does reproduce itself in all of its purity, beauty and utility. We have only the one breed, but hundreds of the choicest specimens of that breed, and can supply your every need.

We have mated our breeding pens and find we are so crowded for room that we intend to offer our birds for sale at prices that will move them. Select the bird or birds you want and order direct from this advertisement and get first choice.

BARGAINS

150 cockerels, all round good breeders, really $15.00 and $20.00 birds, must go at $10.00 each. 200 utility cockerels, worth twice the money asked, will close them out at $5.00 each. 100 laying hens, lay when eggs are worth the most, sale price, $3.00 each. 75 pullets, intended to sell at $5.00, will take $3.00 each. 50 pullets, fine in shape and color, good breeders, now selling at $5.00 each. Order early.

50 cocks, birds we carried over in case of needing them for our breeding yards last season, you know they are bargains at $10.00 to $15.00 each, according to quality. 50 cockerels, pure white, extra good shape, fit to trot out in best shows, worth from $25.00 to $50.00 each, will sell at $20.00 each. 50 pullets, extra fine, top-notchers, worth $20, but to move them they will go at $10.00 each.

We are here offering you a grand opportunity to get some of the WORLD'S BEST WHITE WYANDOTTES at a bargain, whether it be a male bird or a flock to get your foundation stock. Order direct from this advertisement and get first choice.

WE MUST HAVE THE ROOM AND AT THESE PRICES THIS STOCK WILL GO.

EGGS! EGGS! EGGS!

Our yards are mated and we are now in position to fill orders. Our complete and elaborate catalog is FREE, also our mating list to persons interested, and will be sent on request.
